PRESIDENT IN ST. PAUL AFTER PLEASANT TRIP

Vast Throngs Cheer Him All Day.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Paul, Minn., June 7.—[Special.]—Welcomed by the ruffling of drums, the cries of "Present arms," and the cheers of thousands, President Coolidge reached St. Paul at 8:15 o'clock this evening. He paused at the head of his train to thank Engineer J. W. Murphy and Fireman W. T. Lank of Minneapolis for bringing his train in on time.

Through streets lined with troops, thronged with cheering citizens, and arched with electric lights, the President and his wife, both in the best of spirits, were driven in an open automobile two miles to the big stone mansion of Secretary of State Kellogg, overlooking the Mississippi valley from "The Hill," as this residential district is called.

He Had a Pleasant Trip.

The President has had a happy, neighborly Sunday of cool travel and warm greetings from all sorts and conditions of his fellow countrymen, country women, and country children.

Little brown hands reached up to him through the brass and iron gateway of the observation platform of his train, and he had stooped nearly double and put his hand through the gateway to shake the eager little hands, saying as he did so, "Good morning."

The small boys and the women folks [illegible] waved him and cheered him, and the men hand clapped him on his way to make his address tomorrow afternoon in St. Paul at the great Norse-American centennial.

There have been no speeches.

Watch the Passing Scenery.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge spent most of the day on the observation platform. Senator Lenroot sat with them much of the time. Once he said: "I've had not fewer than 75 telegrams from Wisconsin towns, each asking if the President's train could not stop for just two minutes," so they could greet the Coolidges.

But stops have been few, and those only for water and change of engines.

A pilot train ran six miles ahead of the President's train. That pilot train carried baggage car and one of the Northwestern's business cars, and on board it was G. B. Vilas, general manager of the whole Northwestern system, and his staff of superintendents, roadmasters, special agents, and police.

Back with the President's six car train, which comprised baggage car, club car, two compartment cars for the President and the newspaper correspondents, diner, and observation car, was Mr. F. J. Byington, assistant general superintendent, and his staff.

Kind of a Day He Likes.

It was the kind of day Calvin Coolidge likes—some good company, comprising serious, earnest men—like the secretary of state—who can tell him things worth listening to, and, between whiles, opportunity for him to greet his countrymen and intently to survey their fields and habitations.

He has not been bored. He likes the handshaking; says: "It gives me contacts with people that I cannot get in any other way," and he declines to be [illegible] about it.

As I watched him today, he seemed to me a happy and perfectly contented man.

And why shouldn't he be?

All this long day he has been looking out, gazing, gazing in that intent, speculative way of his—on a prosperous and beautiful country—ah, how beautiful!—and he has been looking into the eyes of a contented people who signally have honored him and seem wholly to trust him.

IN CHICAGO 45 MINUTES.

It was unusually smiling and jovial President Coolidge who stopped for forty-five minutes in Chicago yesterday while his car was switched over from one train to another.

Several hundred railroad workers and a dozen camera men greeted the President, the first lady of the land, and the rest of the presidential party. The private car dropped off the [illegible] limited of the Baltimore and [illegible] railroad at 9 o'clock in the morn[illegible]

[illegible] after it had been attached to the [illegible] of the Chicago and Northwestern at California avenue and Kinzie [illegible] the President stood for 25 minutes on the observation platform waving, smiling at everybody, turning [illegible] and that for the camera men [illegible] movie operators.

Quiz Louisiana U. Students in Ax Murder

Baton Rouge, La., June 7.—(AP)—Missing examination papers, believed to play an important part in the killing here today of Oscar B. Turner, professor of agronomy at Louisiana State university, and which could not be found before and immediately after the tragedy, have been mysteriously returned to Professor Turner's desk in the agronomy building, police announced tonight.

Find Bloody Ax.

With the finding of these papers, officers redoubled their efforts to solve the baffling circumstances surrounding the crime discovered this morning when R. G. Markham, senior agriculture student who had been serving as an assistant to Professor Turner, found the agronomy instructor dying from numerous gashes in his head, throat, and chest. These were evidently inflicted with a fire ax which lay near the victim and which bore a blood-stained hand smear as the only clue.

Coupled with the puzzling return of the examnation papers at a time when the agronomy building, the scene of the tragedy, was thronged, came the announcement by police that the blood-stained ax handle has been photographed but does not show any trace of finger or hand prints. It is believed that the slayer wore gloves.

Blame Crime on Student.

Police said they were convinced the professor's assailant was a student. They point to the return of the papers, which were to have been used in an examination tomorrow, and the fact that the instructor's personal effects were not disturbed. A hastily impaneled coroner's jury held an inquest tonight, but failed to announce whether any action was recommended. The jury will resume the inquest tomorrow morning, at which time a number of students will be called for questioning.

1,600 FROM DIXIE SAMPLE WINDSOR BEER—SAY BAH!

Detroit, June 7.—(AP)—A party of 1,600 residents of Louisville and vicinity, passed through Detroit this morning en route to Windsor, Ont., for the expressed purpose of sampling Ontario's 4.4 beer. The party returned shortly after noon and spent the rest of the day at Belle Isle.

Several Louisville newspaper men who accompanied the party said the general comment of the visitors from Kentucky was that the beer is "just like the stuff we get out of the faucet at home."

The party traveled in 24 day coaches to Detroit and crossed by ferry.

Comfortable Day Spent by Secretary of War

Boston, June 7.—(AP)—Secretary of War John W. Weeks spent a comfortable day, the bulletin issued by his physicians at the Massachusetts General hospital stated tonight.

Jealous Man Throws Acid; Girl May Die

Because she broke a date with her sweetheart to attend a picnic with another man, Miss Marie Krautsack, a maid in a Rogers Park home, is in the Grant hospital this morning, so badly burned by muriatic acid that she may die.

Joseph Koppel, the sweetheart, whose home is at 6342 North Fairfield avenue, is under arrest at the Rogers Park police station. Police say he admits hurling the acid.

Caused by Jealousy.

From his statement this was learned: Miss Krautsack, employed in the home of J. W. Weil, 1539 Farwell avenue, had an engagement with Koppel for yesterday afternoon. For some reason she broke it. He learned that she had gone to a picnic with another man.

He became furiously jealous and purchased a bottle of the acid. Then he went to the Weil home and hid in bushes at the front. Shortly before midnight Miss Krautsack and her escort arrived.

Hurls Acid at Her.

Koppel stepped from his hiding place and hurled the contents of the bottle at the girl. Her escort, it is said, fled. She ran screaming into the Weil home. Her employer took her to the hospital.

At the hospital it was said that Miss Krautsack's face and breast were severely burned. There is danger, the physicians said, that she may die.

Rosenwald Gives $50,000 to College in Jerusalem

New York, June 7.—(AP)—The New York World will say tomorrow that announcement of a gift of $50,000 to the Hebrew Teachers' college of Jerusalem from Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist, will be made at a luncheon in the Hotel Astor tomorrow in honor of Dr. David Yellin, head of the college. The gift has been made on condition Dr. Yellin raises $100,000 before July 1, when he returns to Jerusalem. The luncheon will mark the opening of a drive to obtain this amount.

Pickpockets Get $50 Wedding Fee from Priest

A $50 wedding fee was taken from the Rev. C. H. Demetry, 7539 Ridge avenue, pastor of the Greek Catholic Church of the Annunciation, by pickpockets, he reported to the police yesterday. The priest had returned from Lyons, Ill., after performing a marriage ceremony and was waiting at the Adams and Wabash station of the elevated railroad yesterday afternoon when three men brushed against him and took the money.

Crowe to Try Rich Auto Killer Again

DEMANDS KYLE BE EXAMPLE TO OTHER SLAYERS

Alleged Drunks Kill Woman; Flee.

Automobile killings due to drunkenness or reckless driving must not go unpunished, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe said yesterday as he announced that Joseph F. Kyle, wealthy real estate broker, must stand trial again for the killing of Charles Hudson, an aged truck farmer, on the early morning of July 21, 1923.

JOSEPH F. KYLE.

Twice Kyle, who is reputed wealthy and influential, escaped punishment. First it was a coroner's jury that exonerated him despite the fact that a policeman testified that Kyle had offered him a bribe. Saturday, although recently found guilty of manslaughter, Kyle was granted a new trial by Judge William J. Lindsay, who suggested that the case be immediately stricken from the docket with leave to reinstate it if the state saw fit.

Best Sort of Example.

And yesterday State's Attorney Crowe said that he saw fit. He added there must be an example to drunken and reckless drivers some time, and the Kyle case was well suited.

"I have no personal knowledge of the facts in this case and so I do not know the technicalities that made it necessary for Judge Lindsay to grant Kyle a new trial," Mr. Crowe said. "I assume the state made a mistake somewhere in the prosecution of the case. But if we made a mistake in that trial, there is no reason to believe we will make the same or any mistake in another trial, and so I shall reinstate the case against Kyle in the morning."

Kyle Had Settled.

Attorney Clarence Darrow, in pleading the motion for a new trial, pointed out that Kyle had made a settlement of $12,500 with the relatives of the deceased, and added that the kinfolk no longer wished to prosecute Kyle. But Mr. Crowe says such a settlement makes no difference.

DRUNKS KILL WOMAN

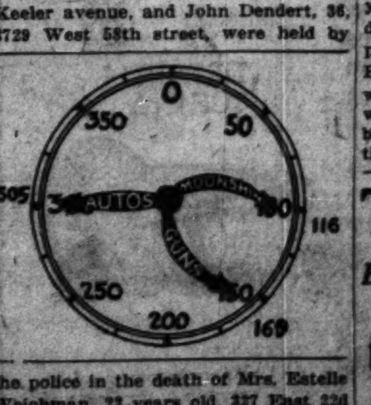
Two men in a speeding automobile ran down and killed a young woman at 22d and Halsted streets last night. After the accident the men, said by the police to be intoxicated, attempted to escape, but were captured after a chase of many blocks.

In other Sunday accidents a youth was killed near St. Charles, Ill., a race track driver met death, and an aged woman was probably fatally injured. The motor death toll for Cook county since Jan. 1 is now 305.

Walter Smagalz, 26, 5618 South Keeler avenue, and John Dendert, 36, 3729 West 58th street, were held by the police in the death of Mrs. Estelle Weichman, 23 years old, 327 East 22d street. Their automobile struck her, dragged her body 25 feet, then sped on. The chase was taken up and the men captured at 26th and State streets. Mrs. Weichman died shortly in the People's hospital.



Michael Pfaff, 18, 2136 Roscoe street, was killed when the cab in which he was driving careened into a ditch on the River road near St. Charles and turned over. Joseph Remely and Edward Peltz, who were with Pfaff, were arrested. They had been drinking, they told police.

Mrs. Isabelle McKee, 64 years old, 7710 North Ashland avenue, probably was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another car at Lake street and Sherman avenue, Evanston. The accident was unavoidable, police were said.

Straton Says Fosdick Has Oil Religion

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, fundamentalist pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, tonight devoted his sermon to a remarkable attack on Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, modernist Baptist, and the "liberal" church to be built near Columbia university.

JOHN ROACH STRATON.

Dr. Straton jibed at the influence the Rockefeller family is supposed to have in the new church. He suggested that the name should be "Socony church" a play on the stock exchange abbreviation of "Standard Oil of New York." He also suggested that the church have as an alter-piece a picture of the Rockefellers, John D., and John D. Jr.

Finds Ground for Agreement.

"I have found at last some common ground on which I can stand with Dr. Fosdick," said Dr. Straton. "For one thing, Dr. Fosdick has declared that a new religious reformation is needed and is on the way. I agree with this proposition, though I disagree violently with Dr. Fosdick in his conception of what this religious reformation is and ought to be.

"Now, however, all such criticisms of Dr. Fosdick should cease. He has been called by a group of people, unbelievers like himself, as their act in calling him proves, worldly minded as he is, as their well known method of life sets forth, and satisfying themselves, so far as religion is concerned, with mere social service and reform activities which only scratch the surface and never reach to the hidden heart and the depths of divine spiritual truth.

Spies Humor in Headlines.

"There have been some elements of humor in the present situation. It was interesting and amusing to observe the newspaper headlines of last Monday covering reports of Dr. Fosdick's first sermon as pastor elect of the so-called Park Avenue Baptist church.

"One of the newspaper stories was headed, 'John D's Church Greets New Pastor.' There was another headline to the effect, 'Oil King Thanks Pastor for Eloquent and Moving Sermon.' If that headliner had had any sense of humor, he would have made it, 'Eloquent and Oily Sermon,' in order that it might have been logically consistent, and, from their viewpoint, theologically sound."

"A Champion of Big Money."

Speaking of the purchase of a plot near Columbia university by Rockefeller as a site for the new Fosdick church, Dr. Straton said:

"This means simply that the Rockefellers henceforth will have their own church. Big money, obtained in devious ways, coming from resources that really belong to all the people, shall have henceforth its mouthpiece and its forum. Its vanity, self-complacency and worldliness shall never henceforth lack a champion and a voice. Modernism and such money are twin sisters, and therefore it is logical that even in the field of religion they should go hand in hand."

Woman Injured When Hit by Horse in Lincoln Park

Mrs. Adeline Ryll, 31 years old, 3915 North Kilbourn avenue, was injured yesterday afternoon when she was run down in the bridle path in Lincoln park by a horse ridden by Miss Emily Bearup, 4933 Sheridan road. Mrs. Ryll was taken to the Columbus hospital with a fractured nose and severe bruises. Miss Bearup told the police that she lost control of her horse.

O'DONNELL SHOT AND PAL SLAIN IN CAFE BATTLE

Find Body of Murder Victim in Lake.

Bootleg bullets ended two lives and almost made it three yesterday in the person of Walter O'Donnell of beer warfare and gang fighting fame.

O'Donnell and Harry C. Hassmiller were riddled with bullets at the Capital café in Evergeen Park, due to either a beer ultimatum or an attempted robbery. The other victim was an unidentified Italian, the top of whose head had been blown off with a shotgun.

O'Donnell has two bullets in his back and he was in a grave condition last night at the Auburn Park hospital. Still, he had no complaint to make to the police.

Career Here Is Short.

Hassmiller, who came here from Bayonne, N. J., five months ago, after compiling a small record as a petty criminal there, died without being able to say anything concerning the reason he was shot. His one murmur to the police was false; he said his name was Wilson.

The best guess of Capt. John Stege of the detective bureau was that the unidentified Italian was slain because of a booze or beer transaction or in reprisal for the murder two weeks ago of Angelo Genna, west side bootleg and Black Hand boss.

The body had been dumped in the lake at the foot of Ninth street in Grant park and was found only because of a search started after two men had found the top of the skull and a cap on the shore.

Find Shotgun Shell.

In the coat pocket of the body was an empty shotgun shell. It appeared that the body had been deposited in the lake early yesterday, and that the piece of skull and cap had dropped unnoticed when the slayers carried their victim to the lake.

The shooting of O'Donnell and Hassmiller occurred at 4:45 o'clock yesterday morning at 2437 West 95th street, which is outside the city limits and in the village of Evergreen Park. Thomas McLaughlin was said to be the owner of the roadhouse, in partnership with John "Scotty" Smith, an Evergreen Park politician.

Doubt Robbery Story.

When Chicago police were informed that O'Donnell had attempted to rob a saloon owned by McLaughlin they were puzzled. They knew McLaughlin formerly kept a saloon at 55th and State streets which was in the stamping ground of the O'Donnell brothers, and Walter was a frequent visitor at McLaughlin's place as well as a friend or acquaintance of the owner.

That was the story the police received from Evergreen Park, nevertheless. It was somewhat garbled and lacking in details and it didn't obscure the belief of the Chicago police that O'Donnell was up to his old trick, that of forcing a dealer to take the beer he sold, using a gun as his chief selling argument.

Evergreen Park Version.

Still, it was the story Evergreen Park seems inclined to stick to, so here it is:

O'Donnell and Hassmiller came into the roadhouse, apparently very drunk. Hassmiller pointed two revolvers at the bartender, known as Bill Smith, and at the patrons who were said to number only five or six. O'Donnell demanded the money in the cash register and McLaughlin nodded to Smith to give it.

Smith took $200 or so from the register, and laid it on the bar. Hassmiller put one gun down on the bar so he could scoop up the bills. Some one took the revolver—none knew who yesterday. Then there was a shot.

The porter, his name was given as Mose Goleman, had stealthily departed via the rear door of the barroom, and returned to the front door armed. Hassmiller's back presented a target in which seven bullets later were found.

O'Donnell chose discretion. He leaped through a window, glass and all, but not so fast that bullets couldn't overtake him. Two of them hit him as he fled, one in the spine that may paralyze him for life, if it doesn't kill him.

Question Car Drivers.

Two cab drivers were questioned, William Sweeney, 6711 South Racine avenue, and Daniel Cunningham, [illegible] South Marshfield avenue. Sweeney said he had been robbed of $19 at the Clover Leaf inn, across the street from McLaughlin's place, by two men resembling O'Donnell and Hassmiller.

James [illegible], proprietor of the Clover Leaf inn, said the two had entered his place, drunk, but there was no robbery. They left immediately for the Capital, he said.

Chicago police recalled that O'Donnell had been arrested for attempting to extort money from one saloonkeeper on the pretense he was a government agent. Two other saloonkeepers had him arrested on charges he had robbed and beaten them when they refused to buy his beer, but they later repudiated their identifications of him, saying the police had intimidated them into naming O'Donnell.

Then O'Donnell was arrested with a gang, charged with the murder of Alfred C. Deckman, whose body they were just leaving on the roadside when police arrived.

It was suspected they were a holdup party, but nothing was ever proved against them. The only witness to the murder of Deckman was afraid to testify.

2 DIE IN DUEL

Policeman Joseph Baggott of Warren avenue station, died last night in the Washington Park hospital after being shot down at Western avenue and Walnut street by George Galloway, colored, whom he shot and killed as he fell. The policeman went to the aid of Arthur Leadley, 32, 232 North Western avenue, upon whom Galloway had fired from ambush.

Other shooting affairs of the day:

William Howard, 1950 Lake street, was shot and killed by Clarence White, 1930 Lake street, when the two quarreled. Both colored.

Police suspect that Edward Mitchell, 27, 4536 Clifton avenue, who appeared at the Lake View hospital with a bullet in his neck, was the "Peeping Tom" they fired on at an apartment at 4933 Winthrop avenue.

Clarence Gleason, 21, 1532 Ogden avenue, and Rudolph Braje, 23, 3340 Huron street, are held by the police in the shooting of Mrs. Frances De Foe, 20, 316 South Sacramento avenue. Police learned they were on a round of the cabarets together. Mrs. De Foe refused to identify them.

James Walker, 32 and colored, was accidentally shot through the shoulder by Policeman F. F. Jones. Walker was fleeing from a dice game.

AUTO VICTIMS

CARRIE SISLIAN.
WILLIAM ZLECHEK.

Among those to die recently under the wheels of autos were Carrie Sislian, 10 years old, 740 North Wells street, and William Zlechek, 4, of 7116 Higgins road.

CIVIL WAR GRIPS CANTON; ARMIES MARCH ON CITY

Battle Rages; Gunboat Shells Troops.

CANTON, China, June 7.—(AP)—Fighting commenced at 4 o'clock this afternoon between troops of the Yunnanese generals, Yang Hsi-Min and Lau Chun-Wan, and the Cantonese troops.

A gunboat steamed up the river past Shameen for Honan, firing on the bund there. There was machine gun and rifle firing on both sides of the river, but it ceased at 5:30 p. m. All the Hongkong steamers left during the fighting.

While protesting loyalty to the principles of the late Dr. Sun Yat-Set and the Kuomintang party, the Yunnanese generals presented a demand to the authorities to order a cessation of troop movements in the east and north river districts, saying that otherwise they would take the necessary measures to resist. The authorities replied denouncing their insurbordination and dismissing them and appointing Gen. Chu Pei-tuh acting commander of the Yunnanese forces, which was a virtual declaration of war.

Troops Erect Barricades.

Gen. Yang Hsi-min seized the governor's yamen and the telephone and telegraph offices, as well as the electric light plant. The telegraph line to Hongkong was cut near Skelung.

The Yunnanese erected barricades along the entire length of the bund, facing the Cantonese barricades at Honan across the river. Gunboats under the Canton authorities command the river, and the Yunnanese control the whole of the Canton side.

Gen. Hsu Chung-Chi's Cantonese army is approaching from Skelung, with Gen. Yang's troops advancing to meet them. Gen. Chu Pei-Teh, with the Yunnanese and Hunanese troops still loyal to Canton, is approaching from the north, and Gen. Lau is advancing to resist him. The authorities are placing chief dependence on the cadets who have been trained by soviet officers. If Honan is taken the authorities except to move to Whampoa.

Foreign Women Flee.

The Baptist mission schools at Tungseian have closed and the foreign women and children are leaving. It is feared that Kuomintank party will call a general strike. The cargo loading coolies already have gone on strike.

FEAR BALKS QUIZ

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

SHANGHAI, June 7.—Only the maintenance of sufficient forces to overawe the bolshevik radical elements will enable the commission of foreign diplomats and the committee named by the Chinese government to make a fair investigation of the Shanghai situation, American Consul Cunningham told THE TRIBUNE tonight.

Yu Ya Ching, head of the local Chinese chamber of commerce, designated by Peking to serve on the government's investigating board, had to apply to the foreign forces for protection this afternoon owing to his receipt of a bomb and letters threatening his life if he did not support the viewpoint of the radical students, who led in the recent rioting. Other Chinese officials sent here from Peking are afraid to show themselves or approach the consular body because of intimidation by the radical elements.

Mr. Cunningham, therefore, is urging the retention of the naval forces until the cases of the rioters, now held by the police, are brought up in the mixed court for trial and until the government and diplomatic inquiries are finished.

Blow at Tariff Parley.

A prominent American official told THE TRIBUNE tonight it was his firm belief that the Shanghai bolshevik uprising was a bold attempt to prevent the calling of the special tariff conference provided by the Washington conference. President Coolidge recently appointed Silas Strawn of Chicago as chief delegate to the tariff conference.

According to THE TRIBUNE'S informant, the Washington conference provided for a program of orderly constructive development in China as a member of the family of nations, and this afternoon owing to his receipt of member of the family of nations, and this is most displeasing to the soviets, who plan to use China's millions against America and England first, and then for their own purposes after the western power is broken here.

Kidnap Japanese Volunteer.

The Shanghai situation was quiet today, but the atmosphere is pregnant owing to the uncertainty as to what the military leaders in the adjoining territory will do. A Japanese member of the volunteer defense corps was kidnaped today and taken to the native territory, where he was held. The house of a Chinese foreman employed by the China Press, an American newspaper, was demolished because he was suspected of helping get out this morning's edition. All printers employed by foreign papers are threatened with death if they help print papers giving the foreign viewpoint.

18 BALLOONS GET AWAY IN RACE FOR NEW BENNETT CUP

Two American Entries Make Fine Start.

BRUSSELS, June 7.—(AP)—Eighteen balloons, representing seven countries, took the air this afternoon and this evening in the first renewal of the Gordon Bennett cup race for lighter than air craft.

The start was made in perfect weather, although the heat was excessive. A light breeze was blowing from the northeast, and, if it continued, the course of the gas bags was to be over northern France and southward or westward toward the Atlantic ocean. The balloonist who succeeds in keeping away from the English channel or the Atlantic ocean for the longest period will win the race.

Ernest de Muyter, the Belgian champion, who won the original Gordon Bennett trophy; Wade T. Van Orman, United States, and Maurice Bienaime, France, are the favorites to win the race. Van Orman carried with him a wireless outfit and will attempt to raise American stations while in the air.

150,000 See Race Start.

Approximately 150,000 spectators watched the inflation of the balloons and the start from Solbosch plain. The great bags were late in getting away, owing to the gas flowing rather slowly into them. It was nearly 8 o'clock this evening when the last of the competitors cast loose.

The starters were De Muyter in the Belgica, Labrousse in the Ville Bruxelles, and Veenstras in the Prince Leopold, representing Belgium; Lieut. Col. Dunville in the Banshee, Capt. C. M. Spencer in the Miramar, and Johnson in the Elsie, representing Great Britain; Magdalene in the Duro, De la Rocha in the Hespero, Susanas in the Capt. Peneranda, Spaniards; Van Orman, with Hallam as an aide, and Lieuts. Flood and McCormick, in the two American balloons; Bienaime in the Picardie, Blanchet in the Naroc, and Latusgrand in the Charles, representing France; Grass is in the Aerostiere, Valles in the Trionfale, and Ilar is in the Ciampino, competing for Italy; and Dr. Bachman in the Velvetia, who is Switzerland's lone entry.

Americans Get Away Nicely.

Both the American bags made beautiful starts, and their pilots expressed confidence that they would give a good account of themselves. Bienaime, the Frenchman, was the first to take the air. Then De Muyter, in the weather-beaten Belgica, which brought the original Gordon Bennett cup to Belgium, went up. The American competitors received a warm sendoff from the crowd. Ambassador Phillips was one of the last of the spectators to shake hands with his countrymen.

Just before darkness settled over Brussels most of the balloons still were in sight, drifting lazily in a southwesterly direction.

NATION SPENDS 8 BILLION A YEAR ON AUTOMOBILES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Eight billion dollars are being spent annually in the United States for the purchase and maintenance of automobiles. There are now 17,500,000 cars and trucks in use, or one to every seven persons. Two billion dollars are being spent each year for the purchase of cars and the rest goes for accessories, gasoline, tires, repairs, and garage items.

The importance which the automobile has assumed among the country's industries is revealed in a report compiled by the American committee on highway transport for submission to the third biennial conference of the international chamber of commerce, which opens at Brussels on June 21.

The report states:

"During the period of the motor car's advance in America savings banks deposits have nearly doubled, individual bank deposits have more than tripled, assets of building and loan associations have tripled, and life insurance in force has increased two and one-half times. This would seem to prove that development of the automobile as a basic element of transportation has been a vital part of the increased efficiency and productive capacity of all interests."

This development has revolutionized farm life. Estimates place the number of automobiles on the 6,500,000 farms of the United States at 4,200,000 in 1924, with 370,000 motor trucks.

The employment of hundreds of thousands in the automobile and allied industries, the growth of the tourist business, the building of good roads all over the country, and the development of suburban home centers are other results cited.

DYING WIFE SAYS SPOUSE POISONED HER; DOUBT STORY

Asserted He Forced Pill Into Mouth.

Despite her dying statement that her estranged husband, Louis Edwards, a mechanic, had forced a mysterious pill down her throat, police last night were inclined to believe that the death yesterday of Mrs. Flossie Edwards, 23 years old, a dressmaker at 3539 West Van Buren street, was a suicide.

Edwards charged that he believes it was his wife's wish to have him hanged for murder and planned the suicide for that purpose.

The Edwards had been estranged six months. Yesterday afternoon Edwards called at the flat of a cousin, Mrs. A. W. De Bore, 3259 West Madison street, where his wife had agreed to bring their three year old son, Keith, for the biweekly visit a court had ruled for the father.

Mrs. Edwards answered her husband's ring and stepped with him into the hall. Five minutes later she returned to the flat and said: "Didn't you hear me scream? Louis put a pill in my mouth." A half hour later, after Mrs. Edwards had chatted and read a funny paper, she was taken violently ill and died shortly after in a hospital.

Strychnine poisoning was indicated. According to Dr. J. P. Scanlon of the Robert Burns hospital and Sergt. Leonard Burch, there was no bruise on the body of Mrs. Edwards which would indicate a scuffle.

At 5 o'clock Edwards return with his child and expressed grief and surprise when he was met by Sergt. Burch and told of his wife's death. He denied molesting her during their brief encounter in the hall, and his statement was borne out by Berger Hanson, a fellow employé, who accompanied his friend on the call.

No charge was lodged against Edwards, but he was held for the inquest of his wife.

BULLARD STEPS UP TO COMMAND OF 2D U. S. ARMY

Finds That Negro Officers Failed in Battle.

BY GEN. ROBERT LEE BULLARD.
[Who commanded the First division, then the Third corps, and finally led the Second army of the United States.]

[As these are personal memories or experiences, the pronoun "I" can never be out of sight. I am not offering these memories as absolute fact, but as my impression and belief at the time.—R. L. Bullard.]

SECTION XXIII.

"Toul, Oct. 14, 1918.—[Diary.]—Came by auto with my two aides, Captains Shirley and Witherspoon, via Bar-le-Duc and Ligny, to this place Oct. 12. I passed at Souhaimes la Grande the second echelon of my (now old) third corps headquarters to tell the officers good-by and to thank them for their loyal efforts. Really, they had not done badly. They began three months ago with a very imperfect organization that functioned very roughly and bunglingly. Today it functions well.

"I stopped a few moments at first army headquarters at Souilly to see our commander in chief, Gen. Pershing. He informed me that he would give up the command of the first army and he intimated that he would form a group of armies, of which Gen. Liggett would command the first and I the second; that he had found it necessary to quit the direct command of an army, as it forced him to neglect greater interests. I thanked him for the mark of his confidence in naming me to this new command.

Finds Second Army Half Organized.

"On arriving at Toul I found the second army about half organized. It has two corps (one being largely French) and some 17,000 army troops, the latter mainly labor and engineer troops. The chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Stuart Heintzelman, I have known for a long time, and in every way he suits me. He is disciplined and considerate altogether.

"But I found no army artillery or even artillery staff. However, I have started on the staff with a good chief, Maj. Gen. Lassiter, one of the best artillerists that I know."

"In trying [diary, Oct. 15] to supply deficiencies in the second army I find the usual defect, to wit, too much talk, a great deal of expectation and too little realization. This has been the great American error (in the war). We have talked at long range. We have filled the air with loud words about things we are going to do. Is it a characteristic of us Americans to make a 'blow' about everything that we do?"

Before we did anything toward getting into the war we were crying out over the world that we were going to have more and bigger guns and more men and more munitions and more ships and more and swifter aeroplanes, submarines and chasers, and more and deadlier gas, and more and bigger and deadlier everything than any or all the other belligerents. It is not much of an exaggeration to say that we made good only on the men; the gas came too late and the aeroplanes and many of the other things did not come at all.

At the Head of the 2d Army.

"I was again encountering in the 2d army the difficulties which I had encountered in the completion of the 1st division last December. I was having my requests answered in futures rather than in presents. But my requests now were in terms of tens of thousands where last year they were in hundreds.

"I see very clearly (diary) that an army is a very much larger thing than a corps. Indeed, a single staff section is as large as a corps staff entire." In its very start this army was six times as great as the division which I was then commanding, and yet the army was in its mere beginning.

"I am not superstitious, but my health, vigor and good feeling, so reduced under the awful neuritis in my right arm from April until September, was now returning that I thought, with some little misgiving, of my same good feeling on starting on a like new mission six months ago, the day before the said neuritis literally knocked me down.

Regains His Health.

"But my misgivings were never justified. My health was returning. It was fortunate, because all my available strength was needed in the work of the formation and preparation of this army for a heavy attack which I knew it would soon be called upon to make."

"Soon" in those days really meant what it said. The allies were pressing the enemy with all their might to bring the war to a conclusion. The 2d army could not long be left to form and train itself at leisure. This army I found lying between the Moselle at Pont-a-Mousson and the Meuse near Verdun, connecting here with the 1st American army.

After the reduction by the Americans of the St. Mihiel salient, about a month ago, the American troops left upon this spot had been preparing for an American advance in the general direction of Metz. Our railroad, roads and other communications were being brought across the old No Man's Land in the German salient of St. Mihiel to connect with the corresponding old German communications leading into the enemy's country. Presumably we should soon need them in an advance from here.

Havoc in the German's Wake.

The roads and railroads over the German St. Mihiel salient had been completely destroyed during the war. It was a hard job to replace them. The country was wiped out.

"Yesterday and today (diary Oct. 17) I passed through French villages that had been for four years in the hands of the German. A few unfortunate women had been left there during the German occupation. Their stories, their loss, were sad, unprotected against German brutality and lust.

"As I pass over (diary) quiet areas of beautiful country utterly destroyed by the barbarous, brutal German to satisfy his lust of world rule, as I saw great forests killed as men are killed by shell and shrapnel, as I saw the infinite pains and labor to accomplish all this to hurt his enemy and protect himself I was tremendously impressed with the German's will to conquer, his great determination, and infinite patience.

"I saw hundreds of miles of trenches, dug and riveted with wood, stone, and cement; thousands of dugouts made almost as great and complete as houses; roads, houses, railroads, and miles and miles of wire entanglements. It looked like the work of a world, and it is all wasted in so far as any material return is concerned — a deeply impressive sight."

Negroes in the United States Armies.

Among the divisions of the Second army I found one Negro division, the 92d. Its generals, colonels, and division staff officers and a considerable number of its field officers were white men, mostly of the regular army. This division especially interested me because in the Spanish-American war I had raised and commanded a volunteer Negro regiment whose conduct had added to my reputation as a soldier.

Having passed a pleasant boyhood and had this satisfactory experience in my earlier life with the Negroes, I found myself with most kindly feelings toward them and my interest was stirred now in France by finding this Negro division in my new army.

I felt some doubt, however, for the success in war of a Negro command as great as a division. General experience seemed to be to the contrary. I was at the time exceedingly busy in the preparation of the 2d army for an offensive which I knew would be coming very soon, and I could give the Negroes no more thought than I was giving to any other portion of my command. War, hard war, was before us, and race could make no difference.

Negro Officers Fail in Battle.

About ten days after I joined the 2d army the proper officer of the army staff mentioned that some of the Negro officers of the 92d division were to be tried for cowardice. I was too busy with my work of organization to give the matter especial attention. It took the usual course of such work.

A few days later, in some way, it was reported to me that one of these Negro officers had been sentenced to be shot for cowardice. Then there came a rush back upon my mind of all my past experience with Negroes. I remembered how our government seemed to expect the same of them as of white men, or at least placed them in positions that so indicated; how politics constantly forced for them the same treatment as white men when they were very different; how they themselves insisted upon such treatment; how surely, notwithstanding all this, if the same treatment were given black as white, it would cause trouble for him who should so deal it out; how, finally, the politics of our country had forced the formation of this Negro division contrary to experience.

[To be continued tomorrow, with Gen. Bullard's further account of the Negro division.]

FIND ANOTHER COPY OF BOOK PRINTED IN 1657, WORTH $6,800

Montgomery, Ala., June 7.—The purchase of $2,000,000 worth of rare books in England recently by Phillip M. Rosenbach of Philadelphia, in which the highest price paid was $6,800 for a copy of Richard Baxter's "A Call to the Unconverted," brought to light that a volume of similar character is owned by an Alabama woman.

The copy purchased by Mr. Rosenbach was reported to be the only copy in existence. Miss Lena Jones of Samson, Ala., however, has such a book, she says, which was purchased by her grandfather from a Methodist preacher named Waudlaw in the early fifties.

The book, Miss Jones says, is a quaint little volume with about 216 pages and was written in 1657.

EXCESSIVE HEAT DRIVES TWO TO END THEIR LIVES

H. C. Eck, Commission Man, Commits Suicide.

The heat wave, love, illness and business troubles caused four suicides and two attempted suicides yesterday in Chicago—three women and three men.

Henry C. Eck, 4548 North Spaulding avenue, well known as a commission merchant and treasurer of the John A. Eck company, attempted to commit suicide by slashing his throat with a penknife in his home. He was taken to the Chicago General hospital, where he will recover. Eck was despondent because of business worries, according to police.

Complained of Heat.

Mrs. Paulina Rath, 81 years old, 7955 South Marshfield avenue, hanged herself in the attic of her home. The body was found by her daughter, Mrs. Emma Weisamberg, and her son, Henry, who lived with her. They say their mother had been complaining of the intense heat.

Mrs. Ophelia Looney, 35 years old, took poison in her home, 7025 South Green street. Her husband, Marcus, said his wife had seemed mentally ill ever since the hot wave hit Chicago.

Long Ill, Shoots Himself.

With a crucifix clutched in his left hand, John Butler, 60 years old, who had been paralyzed six months, shot himself in his home, above his restaurant at 724 East 36th street. His sisters, Julia and Josephine Butler, say their brother was despondent.

Evidently because he was blind, and had little hope of recovery, Charles Sam, 60 years old, a Chinese, 235 West 22d street, slashed his throat with a razor in the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear infirmary, 904 West Adams street. He had gone to the hospital for a treatment. Jacob Albrecht, another patient, found him dead in a washroom.

Miss Marie Parker, 20 years old, 940 Eastwood avenue, failed in an attempt to kill herself with poison in her home. She wrote a note, which read: "Glen dear, I love you as one who has never loved before, but all in vain. I cannot forget the years of our happiness. So I must take this means of forgetting."

She sipped the poison, then screamed. Neighbors broke into her apartment and police took her to the Lake View hospital. After receiving treatment she was sent home.

LOEB IS RESTING BETTER; STILL IS IRRATIONAL

Richard Loeb, one of the slayers of Robert Franks, whose irrational ravings and actions during the last few days in the Joliet state penitentiary hospital have been described by Warden John L. Whitman as insanity, rested easy yesterday.

The youth's temperature was back to normal and the symptoms of measles had entirely disappeared, but the "lifer" convict still mumbled incoherently and showed anger toward his guards and attendants whenever they approached his bed.

Loeb's condition was similar to that of other prisoners who have become mentally unbalanced in the past, Mr. Whitman said.

HEAT WAVE TO DEPART TONIGHT AMID SHOWERS

The heat wave will end tonight amid thunderstorms, C. A. Donnel, weather forecaster, declared last night. Yesterday was comparatively cool because of easterly winds cooled by the lake and a cloudy sky. Today will be slightly warmer, but there will be no such extremes of temperature as prevailed last week.

Thomas Avery, 12 years old, colored, 513 East 35th street, was drowned yesterday when a raft upon which he and several companions were riding the breakers at the foot of 35th street capsized.

Heat claimed five victims here Saturday night before the cool breezes came. The dead are Mrs. Augusta Wythe, 86, 1522 Fullerton avenue; Irving Becker, 50, 534 South Lawndale avenue; Isadore Zaciclonas, 40, 1430 North Talman avenue; Joseph Sparks, 59, 6415 Kimbark avenue, and Frank Lorzzi, 46, of Gary, Ind.

The death toll from the nine days of hot weather and storms from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic seaboard last night nearly 350.

U. S. CALLS ON WOMEN TO JOIN DEFENSE TEST

MRS. ANTHONY W. COOK.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—(AP)—The war department desires and expects "full and complete" participation by women in the defense muster July 4, Acting Secretary Dwight F. Davis said today in a letter to Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who had complained that in some instances last year "women were not permitted to participate actively either on local committees or in the parades."

"The war department stands squarely behind the maintenance of the traditional part that women have played in the defense of America," he said.

$100,000 IN LOOT FOUND IN GARAGE; OWNER ARRESTED

Loot worth $100,000, part of which consisted of $35,000 worth of cigarettes, was recovered yesterday when detectives raided the garage at 3514 Wentworth avenue and arrested the owner, John Sovetsky.

Suspicions of Sergt. Albert Booth and his squad were aroused when they saw two large trucks speeding toward the garage. Neither had a license plate. The policemen followed into the garage and found the drivers hadn't waited for them. Sovetsky denied he knew anything of the vehicles.

The trucks were loaded with cigarettes stolen Saturday morning from the Hamilton-Harris company, Terre Taute, Ind. Search of the garage revealed 1,500 suits of mens-clothing, 250 silk dresses, 25 sealskin coats, and other furs, 1,500 pairs of women's stockings, and a large quantity of men's furnishings.

WOMAN DIES OF BLOOD POISON.

Blood poisoning following an illegal operation caused the death of Mrs. Anna Blank, 23, Thornton, Ill., in a Harvey, Ill., hospital yesterday, is the belief of the coroner, who is investigating.

CITY TO OPPOSE PENDING BILL ON VEHICLE LICENSES

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

JOHN A. RICHERT.
[Walinger Photo.]

The city administration will send four representatives, headed by John A. Richert, to Springfield tonight to protest against the passage of senate bill No. 504. This bill, which has passed the senate and is now pending in the house, would take away from the city a large part of its vehicle license fees and turn them over to the park boards for the maintenance and repair of their boulevards and drives.

There are a few horse drawn vehicles in Chicago, but the great bulk of the fees are paid by automobile owners. In vehicle license fees Chicago collected $3,562,458 last year and to date this year has garnered in $3,588,651.

Might Lose 48.8 Per Cent.

The bill provides that these fees shall be distributed according to the tax levies of the park boards and the city. If the total levies are taken as a basis of figuring, the city will lose 48.8 per cent of the license fees. If the levies for corporate purposes only are reckoned with, the city will be compelled to turn over 31.9 per cent.

The city looks upon both plans as unfair and unreasonable. To begin with, the park boards now receive considerable fees from the motor bus company for the repair and maintenance of boulevards, while the city gets a trifling amount from that source.

Then the city asserts that the total mileage of boulevards and drives under all of the park boards is 169.43. This is compared with 3,424.36 miles of paved streets under the jurisdiction of the city proper.

Want Permanent Tax Rate.

The city administration is also concerned with the failure to date to pass the city's corporate tax rate of $1.85. This has been a temporary rate for two years and the city administration desires to make it permanent. It passed the house, perhaps by accident, because it was a part of a down state bill on tax rates for smaller cities. But it has not been put through the senate.

Another bill in which the city will be interested this week is one relating to the distribution of the interest earned by the county treasurer. That total now is in the neighborhood of $1,400,000 and under the present practices is turned into the county treasury for expenditure by county officials. If that were distributed on a pro rata basis, it is estimated that the city and school board would get $900,000 additional income annually.

School Board Is Interested.

The school board has a bill, which appears to the city to have a good chance of passage, that will turn over to the school authorities their share of the interest earned. The concern of the city administration at present is to get its share.

ROB AND LOCK UP DRUGGIST.

James Beckner, druggist at 1360 South Springfield avenue, was held up by two bandits yesterday and robbed of $99 after being locked in a rear room.

Psychopathic Leaps 3 Floors at Hospital; Dies

Fritz Hermelin, 28 years old, an inmate of the psychopathic hospital, jumped through a screen yesterday and fell three stories to his death. Hermelin was arrested at his home, 56 West Elm street, a few days ago, on complaint of neighbors and brought to the hospital. He was walking about the psychopathic ward when he suddenly rushed to the window and hurled his body through the screen.

The revolutionaries have demanded the resignation of the government and the election of a new assembly. They have liberated all prisoners and seized the funds of the treasury of the island. SOVIETS EXPEL AMERICAN RELIEF TO OLD TEACHERS

Prevented from Distributing Rockefeller Gift.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

RIGA, June 7.—After spending $450,000 in Russia aiding professors, scientists, and other members of the teaching faculties of Russian universities and colleges the American Students' Relief association has been expelled from Russia by the Soviet government. The expulsion was accomplished with the usual Soviet suavity. The representatives of the organization were informed that their visas had expired and that the Soviet government could not grant an extension of time.

Despite the fact the organization had just received another large money gift from the Rockefeller Foundation for the aid of old Russian men of learning the Soviet government refused to permit the association to distribute these last gifts in Russia.

Old Teachers Must Die.

"They informed us they did not want any assistance from capitalists," related a member of the association who has been in Russia for the past four years. "If they could have diverted this money to aid their Rabfacs, the socalled students from the working class, we would have been permitted to remain.

"The only thing left for the old teachers in Russia is to die. Their condition is horrible, and there is no present prospect of relief. Some of them were permitted to retain their posts during the early years of the revolution, but most of them have now been replaced by young Communists who sport the title of professor, but who have a most superficial education. They have still less ability to instruct pupils with their meager store of knowledge.

There are some 15,000 pedagogues in Russia who are slowly starving to death. With the $450,000 which we distributed in relief in Russia we succeeded only in postponing their death. It is not easy to say that our efforts to aid them have been in vain.

Began in 1921.

"The American Students' relief entered Russia with the American Relief association in 1921. In one way we accomplished something worth while. We fed the seniors and juniors in the higher Russian educational institutions during the years 1921 and 1922 and enabled them to complete their studies. There is no doubt but for our one meal a day which we served them, that the colleges and universities would have closed.

"These students began and completed their education under their old professors, so there are some 50,000 young men and women in Russia whom we have assisted to graduate who are equipped with a more or less civilized education.

"Students in Russia today are getting more political than practical knowledge. Their tutors are narrow and seldom know much of anything besides Marxism and Leninism."

COPS BLOCK HIS PARTING KISS AS GIRL GOES AWAY

Everett Bryant, 21 years old, of Maywood not only missed the farewell kiss he had expected yesterday when his sweetheart, Thelma Bennett, 17, left Polk street station for a vacation in the old home town of Johnson City, Ill., but his farewell words were interrupted by the stern hand of Lieut. John Farrell of the detective bureau.

Bryant was accused of planning to kidnap the girl. Yesterday morning a plea was sent the detective bureau asking protection from the importunities of her lover.

At the detective bureau Bryant insisted that only the suspicions of quarrelsome relatives and the jealousy of one "Butch," a mechanic, who is said also to love Thelma, are back of the accusation. No arrests were made.

ROOSEVELT AND PARTY LEAVE LEH TO PIERCE PASSES

KARACHI, India, June 7.—[United News.]—The Roosevelt hunting and exploring expedition pushed out from Leh, the outpost of western civilization in Kashmir, into the hazardous wilds of the towering Kuen-Lun mountains, the backbone of the continent, at 2 p. m. Sunday. On foot, carrying their packs on ponies, Theodore Roosevelt; his brother, Kermit, and their party will fight their way over the snowbound Kardong pass, to drop down the other side into the great Nubra valley, where fresh ponies will be waiting to convey their baggage over Sasser and Karakorum passes. The journey through Karakorum pass, which breaks the range at an altitude of 18,300 feet, is exceedingly precarious owing to the danger of avalanches.

BRITISH QUAKERS PUT THEIR O. K. ON BIRTH CONTROL

LONDON, June 7.—[United News.]—Birth control has received partial condonation from another religious force in Britain.

An investigating committee of the Society of Friends—the Quakers—issues a report concerning the practice which points out its undesirable features but adds that "We are unable to indorse absolute condemnation of the practice as in itself immoral."

"It seems to us," the Quaker report says, "that under certain circumstances the practice of birth control in the marital relationship may be legitimate."

The report says that "it is morally wrong to attempt to set a standard for the marita lrelationship to which only a few people are able to attain."

LOEB IN JOLIET.

Richard Loeb, who was sent to the penitentiary a year ago with Nathan Leopold for the murder of Robert Franks, had the measles recently and Friday was reported to be in a delirium, in what Dr. Herman Adler calls a post-infectious delirium. He had been behaving himself according to prison rules until he went off his head and started throwing things at the guards.

This may be precedent to an attempt to have him removed from the penitentiary to an insane asylum. He was sentenced as a sane and not an insane person. Legally, if he is insane he has become so since he was sent to prison by Judge Caverly.

It may be precedent to such experiences as the community had with Harry Thaw, in and out of insane asylums and now heard of again on Broadway. It may be that Loeb is going, as some alienists said he would, in a rapid dissolution of mind and body. In that case the state has a maniac on its hands for the remainder of his life, long or short.

Whatever is indicated by the stories that he is throwing inkwells or dishes at his guards, whether it is to ease him again out from under the penalties or is a true collapse of the mind, what reason has any one not to regret that the confessed murderers of the century's worst murder escaped hanging as they did?

Can any of the persons who had part in saving these men from the rope find any social reason for it? We can see the harm that was done. There was new proof for Americans who think that only a poor and friendless man ever feels the severity of the law. There was new proof that murder can be beat. The murder may be avowed, but that does not mean complete punishment.

Loeb and Leopold live only as rebukes to our practices and the ideas back of them. If they had been dealt with as such murderers should be the quicklime would have had their bodies and the community would have had an experience with law it respected instead of an experience which increased its cynicism.

TOM GIBBONS PASSES OUT.

Tom Gibbons was knocked out in the twelfth round of his fight with Gene Tunney in New York. Gibbons is thirty-six years old. It is almost out of possibility for a man to keep in the ring until that age. Pugilism requires youth, but Gibbons preserved himself in the sport which was his livelihood by constantly disciplined care of himself.

Such discipline indicates character. It means both restraint and compulsion, holding down habits which take a toll of the body and forcing on habits which keep it fit. Training for the ring is an almost agonizing chore. A young fellow with the profits of a championship in sight submits to it because he has so much to gain if he wins, but when he has arrived the job of keeping or making himself fit to fight may become a pest.

Dempsey does not want any more of the training camp. If the ring did not require training and if a beaten champion were not so out of pocket he probably would be willing to fight a half dozen times a year, anyway if he had Kearns picking them carefully.

Dempsey is still a physical marvel, but probably if he went in the ring as he stands now he would be carried out on a stretcher in about seven rounds against any decent heavyweight. When he tries to get into form again he'll do a lot of groaning.

He'll probably have to do it. Mrs. Dempsey is furnishing the roto with pictures of a lady buying gowns and Mr. Dempsey will be chased back into the ring by the dressmaker. It probably will not be against Harry Wills, the colored heavyweight. That would make training a real chore. Mr. Tunney, by disposing of Mr. Gibbons, may seem to be just good enough at the gate without being too good in the ring. That's good luck for our Neanderthaler.

RED IN CHINA.

Of the Russian rôle in the present disorders in China, two things are to be said: Russia is undoubtedly encouraging the Chinese to get rid of the "white oppressors"; and if there were not a strong nationalist feeling in China to work upon, the Russian propaganda would get nowhere.

Russia proclaims the advent of internationalism, but all her successes are the direct result of simon-pure nationalism. It was old fashioned nationalism which saved revolutionary Russia when the counter-revolutionaries were advancing on Moscow and Petrograd at the same time. The peasants fighting beside the Red factory hands felt the cause of revolution at that moment was the national cause because the invader had foreign support. There is a clear parallel between the defense of the Russian revolution and the defense of the French revolution. Both succeeded because of the mystical faith with which modern man is inspired when he contemplates the land of his allegiance. He may fancy himself immune to the emotion, but so soon as his country is in danger the despised emotion takes command of him.

The Russian revolution says nationalism is as dead as the czar and internationalism has replaced it. We can see not one evidence of the growth of internationalism as a human motive. The Chinese rebellion against the foreigner, which is being hailed in Russia as a victory of internationalism, is in reality proof of the strength of the nationalist spirit. Internationalism knows no foreigners, yet this movement in China is directed at the foreigners and no one else.

The critical situation in the treaty ports is, in fact, an astonishing evidence of the spread of the nationalist psychology. Now it has taken firm hold on the Chinese, a people which by temperament and habit should be the one people on the earth indifferent to it.

SAFETY IN MOTORING.

Chief of Police Collins says that speed is the greatest factor in the loss of life through automobile accidents. We think he is right, but there is respectable opinion to the contrary. It holds that carelessness is the chief cause of casualties. Whichever is right, the mayor's proposal to copy New York and establish a citizens' safety commission of influential personnel is worth trying.

Whether speed or carelessness is the more important factor, the bringing about of a greater sense of responsibility among motorists is the main objective of reform. Chief Collins proposes a stricter enforcement of the traffic regulations, and Mayor Dever plans for local vigilantes to observe infractions and report offenders to the authorities for warning or punishment. But neither proposal can be realized without the creation of a strong sentiment in favor of better driving and a greater sense of responsibility in the rank and file of drivers. Self-discipline is the key to better conditions and without the growth of a disposition to be careful and considerate it is not likely that regulations will be generally and persistently enforced. Both come from the same source, a public opinion stirred by existing conditions to a general and persistent effort for reform.

This is no easy accomplishment, especially, we think, as to the reduction of speed. The pace of American life is fast. The American nervous system is keyed very high and the craving for speed is deep and virtually universal. That fact has to be taken into account if we are to have practicable regulations rather than theoretically plausible ones.

GERMAN DISARMAMENT.

American opinion, that which is not partisan, will review the allied note to Germany on disarmament with some cynicism. Inasmuch as Germany is surrounded by nations which have not disarmed and reveal no intention of disarming, the allied demands in the view of American common sense must seem in many details suspiciously excessive and some in need of considerable explanation. The British navy is in being and probably better than before the war. The German fleet is in Scapa Flow. The French army is almost as large and undoubtedly a better army than before the war. The same may perhaps be said of the Italian army, and Poland has an army of 400,000, Czecho-Slovakia of 250,000, while the Austro-Hungarian power has disappeared.

German disarmament against a background like that doesn't appear quite the affair offered for our approval and support in 1919, and the squabbling over the organization of a general staff, the training of the reichswehr, and the discovery of a few cannon saved from the junk pile will seem rather petty. The demands for modification in the German factories raise another issue. Objection from Germany to further destruction of machinery on the ground that it might be used to turn out war material will seem to most Americans reasonable. The specific demands square rather ominously with the theory that the British, if not the French, are not merely concerned with disarmament, but under cover of the treaty are hitting at Germany's industrial competition. Mr. Clayton of THE TRIBUNE News Service cables from Berlin that the foreign office points out that the large plant at Spandau, where the allies demand that the Bessemer furnace and Martin furnace be destroyed, is a special process plant with only one competitor and that one in England. Another plant which the note demands shall be razed is turning out cheap motor cars.

Whether these plausible suspicions are justified or not, the fact remains that the complete disarmament of a great industrial nation is impossible short of the complete destruction of its industrial plant. We know that perfectly well from what happened under our eyes in 1914-1919. Our industry was not organized on a war basis and had no preparation for war supply. Yet in a very few months our great steel industry and other heavy manufacturers were turning out munitions of war. How can Germany be reduced to a state of complete impotence as to armament unless its industry be virtually wiped out?

As that is hardly practicable, even if it were desirable from the viewpoint of her late adversaries, the question of how far to go in the restriction of German manufacture may cover a good many ulterior possibilities.

The net result, it seems to us, of this ostensible effort to make it impossible for Germany to recover military strength is to prolong the misunderstandings and rancors which are the seed bed or forcing house of new wars. British and French thought that is frank enough to recognize that the complete disarmament of a modern industrial people is impossible turns to the alternative, or what is described as moral disarmament. That is, since Germany cannot be actually disarmed in the sense of being deprived of any industry capable of being transformed, as even that of pacific America was, for war needs, the alternative is to take from the German people the disposition to use its industry for war. Of course, that is getting down to the root of the matter. But how is Germany to be morally disarmed—conceding for argument's sake that she is still harboring warlike intentions—so long as she is surrounded by armed nations united in policy against her?

The Other Side

THE CONFEDERATE DEBT.

[Dubuque Telegraph-Herald.]

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE suggests in an editorial that the United States should give Great Britain credit for debts repudiated by southern states. Credit so given would be deducted from the war debt of Great Britain.

The bulk of the debt repudiated by southern states was contracted during the Civil War. Admission to their places in the union was made contingent on repudiation of all debts "incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States."

So says the fourteenth amendment.

No nation after conquering a portion of its territory which had risen in rebellion could be expected to repay those who had given financial aid to the rebellion. To revive an old controversy such as the confederate debt is worse than foolish.

Carpet baggers after the war contracted other debts without legal sanction. The southern people should not be expected to repay money illegally obtained in their name and which went to the pockets of political pilferers.

No similarity can be discovered between debts contracted by European nations to save them from conquest and debts contracted in the course of a rebellion or by state officials illegally elected.

SLEEP AND SNORING.

In a frame at one end of every Pullman sleeping car there is a card for "Safety First" advice. Just now the advice on this card relates to sleep. This card is labeled:

A BEDTIME HINT—THE COURTESY OF SILENCE.

It carries five quotations relative to sleep. One, from the writings of Emma Willard, is:

"I lay me down in peace to sleep."

Peace is the key to the insomnia problem. Peace is the cure of insomnia. A person at peace with himself and the world has no trouble about sleeping. There is practically no insomnia except that which is caused by fear, anxiety, worry, or some kindred emotion. Insomnia itself is a trifling disorder except where fear of sleeplessness—insomniaphobia or insomniamania—is engrafted or grows out of it.

Emma Willard may never have heard of behaviorism. She may not have known anything about psychology or psychiatry, but when she wrote "I lay me down in peace to sleep," she sensed the kernel of a great truth in behaviorism.

Two others of the quotations found in Pullmans relate to snoring, or can be so considered. Beauvie is quoted as saying:

"Kind friend, to me a real friend do be;
Close eyes and mouth; I'll do the same for thee."

The next is:

"With wagging jaws clamped tight
comes perfect rest,
And when the morn day breaks, I rise refreshed."

Whenever the train comes to a stop, all with ears to hear can testify that some of the sleepers are not obeying the injunction to "clamp tight the jaws" and "close the mouth." Snoring is at its worst on a sleeping car.

Many people sleep on the side most of the time. To prevent rolling in the berth most people sleep on the back when traveling at night. When a person sleeps on the back the jaw muscles are almost certain to relax and the mouth to drop open.

Snoring is caused by the flapping of the soft palate. Currents of air passing simultaneously through the mouth and nose are the great cause of snoring. In simpler words, mouth breathing is the principal cause of snoring.

Mouth breathing dries out the mouth, causes some discomfort, occasionally awakens the sleeper, and promotes infections.

And there are but three or four possible preventives. One is to get a roomier nose somehow or other. Another is to develop the face muscles better. A third is to sleep on the side or stomach. The wearing of face harness of one kind or another has been left out of consideration.

I don't see much chance sleeping car snorers will "clamp the jaws and close the mouth" and stop snoring unless Mr. Pullman will invent a special sleep-on-your-side mattress.

CONTAGION OF SMALLPOX.

Miss H. B. N. writes: A says it would be dangerous for a girl who has never been vaccinated to be in a room with a young boy who is suffering with a very bad case of smallpox.

B says there would be no danger if the lady just stood in the room and didn't get close to the boy.

Who is correct?

REPLY.

A is nearer right than B.

The degree of danger depends upon how close the person was to the patient, what he touched, the amount of immediate disinfection of pus and other discharges and the general care and cleanliness.

THERE IS NO CURE.

I. W. writes: Is leukemia, in the early stages, curable, and how?

REPLY.

There is no cure for leukemia. Your only hope is that the diagnosis is wrong.

X-RAY MIGHT HELP.

Mrs. A. C. M. writes: Will you please give me your opinion on the following question:

A woman, past 40, who has a fibroid and at times has had hemorrhages, wants to know if it would be best to have the uterus removed. Health otherwise good.

REPLY.

If the only symptom is an occasional mild hemorrhage and if the tumor is growing very slowly, the answer might be No.

The decision should be based on the symptoms.

Treatment by X-rays and by radium are also effective.

In some cases such treatment is preferred to operation.

EARS STICK OUT.

C. H. J. writes: My boy of 5 years has very large ears which stand out straight. Is there any way of training or having them fixed?

REPLY.

Try having him wear a skull cap covering the top of the ears.

LEFT-OVER RIDES.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., June 3.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Are the railroads obliged to refund on monthly commutation tickets of sixty rides where over twenty-five rides are not used? L. M. R.

We have considered such refunds as voluntary. We know of no basis for enforcing them.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CARE IN SIGNING.

Hammond, Ind., June 3.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Six heirs in Indiana have joint title to a piece of real estate. One heir, wishing to buy the other shares, has a deed signed by all, but Edward J. signs simply "E. J." Will this affect the validity of the deed?
F. H. G.

No, except that if he is described as Edward J. in the probate proceedings or in the previous history of the title, then affidavits might be necessary in order to prove that "E. J." is the same person.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ONLY ONE YEAR FOR PROBATE.

Chicago, June 3.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—If an estate is in probate, no will having been left, what time must elapse before the lawful heirs receive notice from the court or administrator? Or must the heirs make application for their share?
C. D.

Since one year is the period allowed for creditors to file claims, the administrator ordinarily should settle the estate shortly after expiration of such year. If he does not do so, try taking the matter up with the clerk of the court.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 8, 1865.

CHICAGO.—Two firemen were instantly killed, two others probably fatally hurt, and four others seriously injured when they were buried under a three story wall which fell while they were fighting a fire in the building of Zea & Zimmerman, 185 South Water street. It was the worst calamity that has befallen the fire department since 1857, when twenty-three citizens were buried and burned to death under a falling wall in Lake street.

WASHINGTON.—A farewell supper was given for John G. Nicolay, President Lincoln's private secretary, who will soon go to Paris as consul.

NEW YORK.—So great was the pressure to see Gen. Grant that after he appeared on the balcony in front of the Astor house all visitors, except the ladies, were refused admittance. Tonight he will speak at Cooper institute.

ST. PAUL.—Information from Fort Abercrombie, Dacotah territory, is that 3,300 lodges of hostile Sioux, or 16,000 men, women, and children, are at Devil's lake and Turtle mountain. It is thought that their warriors number 4,000 and that they intend to attack Fort Abercrombie and then scatter in small parties.

HALIFAX.—The steamer Africa brings news from England. In the house of commons Lord Palmerston was asked about the demands made by the United States for compensation to American subjects for damages inflicted by the rebel pirate ship Alabama. He said that such a demand had been made and that the governments are corresponding on the subject. The Morning Post says: "There can be only one result—the unconditional refusal on our part to indemnify the Americans for the losses occasioned by the chances of war." The Times takes a similar view, but says it trusts there is nothing in the Alabama affair which need cause apprehensions of rupture either now or at any future time.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 8, 1900.

ST. LOUIS.—Mob rule, with its quota of shootings, assaults, and riots, was the order of the day in the St. Louis street car strike. Posses and police were practically powerless to prevent the numerous outbreaks.

LONDON.—The "Boxer" revolt in China is spreading and large areas have been raided and pillaged. The Daily Mail says American intervention is the solution of the problem. The British have landed 500 soldiers.

CHICAGO.—Roy West and Charles Scharf were publicly flogged by their mothers in Police Magistrate Davison's office in Melrose Park for tying the justice's fox terrier to a railroad track in such a way that a train cut off its tail. Davison told the mothers the boys would be released if they would administer the rod. The mothers did so before a large crowd and did it well.

LONDON.—Despite the surrender of Pretoria, President Kruger declares the Boers are not whipped yet. He is maintaining his capital in a private railway car at Machadadorp, south of Lydenburg. "The burghers are fully determined to fight to the last," President Kruger said, "and will never surrender as long as 500 armed men remain in the country."

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 8, 1915.

LONDON.—For the first time on record a Zeppelin in the air has been destroyed by an aviator in an aeroplane. Reginald J. Warneford, a young Canadian sub-lieutenant in the royal navy, performed the feat. The Zeppelin lies sprawled on the roof and ground of an orphanage near Ghent. It fell a blazing mass after being struck by the aviator's bombs.

AMSTERDAM.—The Cologne correspondent of the Tyd says a report is current that Austria and Germany soon will announce their conditions of peace, in which emphasis will be given to the declaration that the Germanic allies are not engaged in a war of conquest, but seek only to insure the security of their territories.

CHICAGO.—Returns from 1,295 precincts out of 1,766 in Cook county indicate the election of a nonpartisan judiciary with the Republicans getting the lion's share of the Circuit court bench.

CHICAGO.—Decisive defeat of the proposed $2,500,000 bond issue for a new county jail and Criminal court building was indicated by incomplete returns.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson is still delaying the dispatch of his rejoinder to the German reply to the Lusitania note. At the White House it was said that the rejoinder may be sent tomorrow.

CHICAGO.—Maximum temperature yesterday was 71; minimum, 55.

IMPORTANT NEWS came from Washington Saturday. Although Cal wore a gray woolen suit, with the temperature at one hundred degrees, he had TAKEN OFF HIS VEST! It was first page stuff. IN SCOTLAND.

In Burns what power was born!
  How much of music died
When he no more at morn
  Trod the bright countryside.
Yet still for him who passes,
  There's music in the skies,
  And in the daisies' eyes;
And still the bonny lasses,
The bonny, bonny lasses,
  Are songs of sweet surprise.

Wherever one may fare
  In Scotland, high or low,
The braes, though they be bare,
  With music seem to flow.
And where the laughing Doon
  From Auld to New Brig glances,
So merry is the tune,
So lilting is the tune,
  That even Sorrow dances
And fills her heart with June.

NEW HARTFORD, Ia., reports that a farmer who cut his initials on the back of a turtle fourteen years ago had returned to the farm and found the turtle a mile away from the point where he was first seen. THE GENS AND THE GYRENES.

Dear Dick: I see where this here Gen. Bullard made some remarks to Gen. Pershing about the Gyrenes and their w. k. publicity in the late w. w. That guy is holding out on the public. The real story is this:

The gens were all sittin' around discussing about who was gonna start in the big scrap. "Who're these here marine guys?" says Gen. Pershing. "Gen., they're fighting fools that don't know nothin' else or if they're in the army or if they're in the navy and they don't give a damn," says a guy from Plattsburg. "Tell you say!" says the general, surprised at such seeming intelligence in such a dumb bird. "Yeh!" says the Plattsburg guy as he gives his Sam Browne belt a few slicks with his sleeve. "Mebbe we should have ought to start these here Gyrenes," says Gen. Pershing. "Mebbe," says the yes guys all together. Which they done.

After the marines had cleaned the Prussian guards and lost more men than any other bunch in the division and killed more germans and taken more machine gun nests than the cockeyed germans ever seen captured before, the gens seen their mistake. "Hey," says Gen. Bullard to Gen. Pershing, who was passing, he was always passing, "these Gyrene guys which are left are sure gittin' the lime lite showered on them. How come? D'ye want 'em all to get a raise and have us guys get canned?" "I stopped that," says the Gen. dryly as I was passing (I was always passing, too), "I've started a question."

"I'll bite," says Gen. Bullard. "What's your question, Gen.?"

"Who won the war?" says Gen. Pershing.

"All right, who won the war?" says Gen. Bullard.

"The Y. M. C. A.," said Gen. Pershing, and then the two gens laffed an' laffed because they knew they had sure started something to make people forget about the Gyrenes.

PLAYGROUNDS.

Chicago, June 4.—We wish to congratulate THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE upon its editorial in this morning's edition entitled "Let Them Play." The ideas set forth and the arguments advanced are so conclusively true as to display a most intimate and correct knowledge of the recreation needs of Chicago on the part of the writer.

Chicago is noted for its large park areas, boulevards and outer drives, all of which are a boon to the public, but there are a great many congested districts far removed from these where playgrounds should be provided as quickly and in as large numbers as possible. The great building development is rapidly wiping out all the vacant lots and forcing the children upon the streets. Small children cannot go a great distance to the larger recreation centers, and the playgrounds must be brought to them.

Provision should be made now for the acquisition of a large number of pieces of property throughout the city in congested districts for children's playgrounds and for larger pieces for public athletic fields, while the property still can be purchased at reasonable prices, instead of waiting, as New York has done, until such time as the cost will be prohibitive.

We have made recommendation to the city council for an appropriation from the recent playground bond fund which will enable us to establish one additional playground in a very congested part of the city and to make permanent four others, now on leased land, whose intensive and popular use justifies their permanency.

A. A. SPRAGUE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

FROM JUDGE OLSON.

Chicago, June 2.—There is pending in Springfield a bill, introduced by Senator Charles R. McNay of the Quincy district, to prevent murderers from inheriting or taking by will from their victims.

This bill passed through the senate with only one dissenting vote, but will probably be opposed in the house, especially by a certain leader, who, I have been told, opposed a similar bill some years ago on the ground that the murderer needed the money to defend himself.

Mr. Carl E. Epler, a prominent attorney of Quincy, tried to get special legislation through a few years ago, but failed.

It certainly would seem that legislation of this sort ought to shame the members into voting for it, but in order to strengthen this we need to have some newspaper support in Chicago.

Could you say a good word for the bill? It is one that is so self-evidently needed and appropriate that I cannot see how any member of the house could vote against it, but they may do so under malign leadership.

HARRY OLSON,
Chief Justice, Municipal Court.

A FARMER'S HAIRCUT.

Joliet, Ill., June 2.—When I was a boy I walked barefooted in the dust behind a draw 14 hours for 25 cents. It would take three such days' work to pay a barber for cutting your hair.

A farmer once came to town with a bushel of oats with which he got a haircut and received enough change so he could take home some candy for the kids. Now if he wants to get a haircut he must sell 2½ bushels of oats and he is very lucky if the porter does not dust another ½ bushel out of him. And when he was getting his trim for 25 cents it cost one-half as much to produce the grain as it now does, and taxes were half what they now are.

Wise politicians are asking, what is wrong with the farmer? The honest answer is, organized labor and organized capital are crushing the unorganized farmer.
CHARLES A. FINCH.

REPUDIATES DEBTS.

Chicago, June 4.—I read your editorial as to deducting the repudiated southern debts from the British war debt with entire approval. But allow me to correct an historical error. There was no repudiation after 1840. The carpet bag government tried to create new debts for those states, but repudiation had destroyed their credit and the bonds could not be marketed.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH OPPOSES BRYAN.

Chicago, June 5.—Apropos of the letter of Walter White in today's Tribune appealing for funds for the prosecution of Prof. Scopes on the ground that it represents the church, may I be allowed to say that the prosecution does nothing of the kind. It may perhaps represent certain of the Protestant sects, but it most certainly does not represent the Episcopal church, of which I am a humble member. As far as one may judge from her official publications such as The Living Church, the Episcopal church looks upon the Tennessee law as a calamity, and one well calculated to bring religion in general into discredit. Please leave the Episcopal church out of the mess.
GEORGE HENDERSON.

PICKING A WINNER.

Chicago, June 5.—Mr. White as a school superintendent must know history and if he does he knows that in every conflict between the church and science the church has lost. Why call for funds to finance a losing fight? Mr. White knows that any one who contributes money to the prosecution in this fight is paying his money for nothing, unless it can be charged to advertising Dayton, Tenn. And whoinel wants to advertise that town?
S. M. F.

THE ISSUES IN THE TENNESSEE TRIAL.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 2.—The case versus Scopes in Tennessee can, even at its best, bring out only two issues: "Did Scopes violate the statute?" and if so, "Is such a statute constitutional?"

Thus far no American majority has ever been permitted to abandon its pure civil jurisdiction and reach out into the religious, academic, or scientific field in order to subsidize or champion a purely intellectual doctrine, hypothesis or theory. And no American legislature has ever been permitted to do so.
PERRY FRY.

A PROSECUTOR ON THE DRY LAW.

Wausau, Wis., June 3.—I take this opportunity to congratulate you on the cartoon "Taking Away Our Protection." I wish there were more newspapers in America which would take the courageous stand on this liquor question that you do.

This cartoon ought to wake up our misinformed, foolish friends, the so-called drys. They don't seem to know of any other law than the prohibition law. I sometimes think they never heard of any other law. Up here in Wisconsin, for instance, we have a few misguided, misinformed, and obstinate so-called reformers who keep on talking about "law enforcement." They have one law in mind; namely, the perverted eighteenth amendment—the only amendment of our entire nineteen which takes away a right of the American people when all the others give rights. They forget that in Wisconsin, for instance, there are 1,515 criminal laws. They hound the district attorney and the law enforcement officials on that one law, and they think that if he enforces that one law beyond all reason and common sense he is a wonderful official, but if he enforces the 1,515 laws and is somewhat liberal minded on the eighteenth amendment, he is not doing his duty.

Is it any wonder that there is such widespread violation of the major criminal laws in this country—murder, rape, burglary—when these fanatics compel prosecuting officials to concentrate their entire activities and attentions on the prohibition law?

GEORGE W. LIPPERT,
District Attorney, Marathon County, Wis.

ITALY ACCLAIMS KING IN GREAT PARADE AT ROME

ROME, June 7—(AP)—Victor Emmanuel III., at the expiration of the first quarter of a century of his reign, received today a popular demonstration which could leave no doubt that, whatever party differences may divide his subjects, they are still united in their satisfaction with the monarchy as personified in the house of Savoy.

The participants in this manifestation were drawn from every nook and corner of the empire. Eight thousand mayors came from as many cities, towns, and hamlets.

There were also a dozen or more representatives from the various Italian colonies.

The ceremonies lasted all day. The first demonstration began at 7 o'clock when troops from the various units of the standing army assembled in the national stadium for a royal review.

The king and queen, the queen mother, the crown prince and the princesses Mafalda and Giovanna, appeared in the reviewing stand at 8 o'clock. Others in the reviewing stand included Premier Mussolini and members of his cabinet, the Duke and Duchess of Aosta, and members of the diplomatic corps.

In the afternoon a great parade took place, more than 100,000 being in the line.

The king and queen, with the members of the royal family, waited on the balcony over the main entrance of the quirinal palace.

The dwindling Garibaldi veterans, now some fifty in number, wearing the quaintly shaped service cap and red shirt, marched proudly up to salute the descendant of the monarch they helped to enthrone. The Garibaldians were headed by Ezio Garidaibi, grandson of the patriot.

"If you knew what I know about drinking glasses you'd smash every glass in your office and never replace them."

"Rather violent, aren't you?"

"Yes! and more people would be if they realized the serious dangers that lurk in those glasses."

"What do you mean?"

"Here are some facts. One scientist obtained and cultivated over 100 different kinds of bacteria from the mouth. Infected mouths bearing many kinds of bacteria leave deposits of rapidly multiplying germs on drinking glasses."

"That's enough. I don't need the revolting details. Out go the glasses. We'll use paper cups hereafter."*

Something Is Lacking in Air, Elmer Finds

Sunday Concerts Not Up to Standard.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

There seemed to be something missing yesterday. Anyhow, at this moment, I wish some choral society had kicked over the traces, conductor's stand, or something, and given us a real stirring concert at some station.

The dials did not reveal the usual number of stations on the air at any one time, and so few of these stations seemed to be having anything of any great importance to say, considering the day, and—well, maybe the fine programs during the winter months have sort o' spoiled things—us——

A sweep of the dials at 3:30 revealed WQJ in a recital of exceptional worth. The special artists were Edouard Dumfresne, baritone, and Clement Laskowski, tenor.

Mr. Dumfresne attracted attention first in a group of spirituals, which he sang with the spirit and emotion of a gospel singer. Next he plunged into a group of the dramatic, bravura songs, and here his voice rang out with dramatic intensity that carried everything before him; further, in the doing he revealed a tenor quality in his upper register that would have been a credit to any tenor.

Mr. Laskowski was heard in fewer selections—perhaps my fault—but if this tenor was less dramatic he was none the less a pure lyric tenor, with all their likeable qualities. His number, "Agnes Dei" (Bizet), was as near a thing of solemn religous beauty as one only rarely hears.

I have this instant been notified that we are very short of space, so——

The next that must be mentioned was the WBCN 4 o'clock classical concert, where another baritone, George F. Gordon, made this hour memorable, not alone for the selections chosen but for the remarkably mellow richness of the voice — one that harmonized so well with the pipe organ used for his accompaniments, that the one seemed to enrich each other.

LT. WADE FLIES HERE TO INSPECT ACADEMY CADETS

Lieut. Leigh Wade, U. S. A., one of the world flyers, yesterday reviewed the cadets at the Morgan Park Military academy and gave a short address on the advantages of flying as an occupation and the importance aviation is to assume in the coming years.

Lieut. Wade flew in from Chanute field and was met by the academy military band.

Mayor Dever welcomed the flyer to Chicago, and short addresses on the importance of Chicago as an air port of the future were made by Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park board, and William McCracken, governor at large of the National Aeronautical Association of the U. S. A.

About 3,000 persons attended the gathering.

KIMBALL PIANOS

EVERY type of music — grave or gay—classical or "popular"—seems to deliver a more vivid, colorful message when interpreted by the glorious "singing" tones of the KIMBALL Piano.

The brilliant, sparkling notes of this wonderful instrument impart to the popular melodies of the moment the life and spirit on which their appeal depends. And the statelier measures of the classics draw a new meaning from the superb tonal volume for which the KIMBALL has been celebrated for many years.

FRANCE TO BARE FULL REPORT ON GERMANY'S ARMS

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, June 7.—The actual report of the interallied control commission, which served as the basis for the ambassador's note sent to Germany, was not directly communicated to the German government, but for the moral effect will be published in France next Tuesday.

The purpose of this action is to influence Germany's reaction to the official note, which, it is understood, was received with grumbling. The control commission's report, it is understood, was much less moderate, giving all the data gathered by Gen. Walch's commission in Germany and making recommendations to Marshal Foch's committee for extreme firmness in dealing with Germany.

This report caused the long delay in the allies' agreement on their formal note to Germany, and it is believed to have been the basis of considerable negotiating between England and France because the former opposed its publication in detail. The French finally agreed to moderate their demands provided the details of the report were made public so the world would be informed of conditions existing in Germany.

Believe Germany Will Bow.

BERLIN, June 7.—[United News.]—As the first flush of excitement over the recent allied disarmament note subsides, the impression grows that Germany will again sign on the dotted line.

The initial opposition of the nationalists is now assuming a milder aspect and even the legion of old time officers does not call for a rejection of the allied demands, but merely protests the "form and tone" of the note.

One of the most interesting facts of the situation is that President Von Hindenburg, whose election was hailed in some international quarters as the probable forerunner of a more belligerent German attitude toward the allies, seems unlikely to do or say anything now or in the future to bear out such gloomy predictions. It is reported that the old war lord is fully reconciled to acceptance of the demands that Germany still further scrape the bare bones of the great military organization which he once commanded.

Called Setback for Industries.

Gen. Von Seeckt's threatened resignation from the leadership of Germany's present military system is now reported to be largely due, not to the attack of the allies on the republic's alleged general staff, but to his personal differences with Gen. Von Hindenburg, which date back many years.

Taken along with the announcement of the sweeping reductions in the Stinnes enterprises, which require refinancing and other stringent measures, the demand of the disarmament note for further destruction of machinery in former war time industries undoubtedly signifies a setback for Germany in her slow progress toward economic recovery.

Economic experts believe that these developments are leading toward a great foreign influence on German industry and trade. This influence, they declare, will emanate mostly from England and the United States.

Getting Your Product Talked About!

A fatal thing in business is for your product to be ignored—never the subject of neighborly discussion. Women discuss their favorite cake flour, baking powder, washing machine, beauty aid, dressmaker, grocery store; men, their safety razor, haberdasher, automobile, athletic favorite, et cetera.

The great advantage of the advertised product is, "Sure—we know about it," or "Sure, we have one." Publicity begets publicity. Obscurity keeps on getting more obscure. The printed word begets the spoken word—a help to dealers and to salesmen.

For the concern with the good product which people have not yet "recognized" we have a book of greatest value, "FOUR SQUARE ADVERTISING." It is the standard by which advertising and advertising agency service may safely be judged. We will gladly mail it free.

SEE NO MENACE TO RAILROADS IN AIR COMMERCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Railroads of the United States have nothing to fear from commercial aviation, in the opinion of officials here. There will be no real competition between the two, they point out, because the commercial airplane will serve as a forerunner and a builder of business for the railroads.

The amount of passenger business which the airplane will take from the railroad, it is affirmed, will be a comparatively small and economically negligible quantity. Ordinarily the amount of time saved would be too small to induce the traveler to pay the higher air fare. Occasionally, in a long distance trip, it is pointed out, the plane might be used in preference to the train.

Aid to Speedy Business.

As seen here, the great value of commercial aviation will be in speeding up business transactions by the carrying of valuable and urgent papers, in getting important shipments started quickly and in saving interest charges. All of this, it is asserted, will redound to the benefit of the railroads. Airplane orders bringing more business instead of less.

"The proposed commercial air route between New York and Chicago is looked on here as an experiment. With this main artery established it is expected that feeders will be built up and that sooner or later the country will be covered with a vast network of air lines.

Coming to Stay, Is Belief.

The commercial airplane, once established in the United States, will be here to stay, it is believed, just as it appears to be a fixture already over the greater part of Europe. Plans which have been developed for commercial aviation in this country are said to be the outgrowth of a study and report made by the war department on aerial commerce in Europe.

RAIL MERGER AND RECEIVERSHIP TO STIR CONGRESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, June 7.—[Special.]—Two major phases of the railroad regulation problem have been brought into issue by the Van Sweringen-Nickel Plate proposal to unify the Nickel Plate, Chesapeake and Ohio, Hocking Valley, Erie, and Pere Marquette properties and by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul receivership. The situations produced by the proposed merger and the receivership are being dealt with by the interstate commerce commission, but it is regarded as a certainty that they will be provocative of extended consideration by congress, when it convenes in December, if not of "remedial" legislation.

SENATOR HOWELL.

Some One Will Make Big Profit.

Disclosure in the Nickel Plate hearing that the Van Sweringens had made a paper profit of approximately $17,000,000 as a result of their merger of the old Nickel Plate, Cloverleaf, and Lake Erie and Western properties into the present Nickel Plate, will be seized upon by certain members of congress as an argument against merger of rail properties on a large scale.

Senator Howell [Rep., Neb.], member of the senate interstate commerce committee, in the last days of the last session of congress, introduced a resolution providing for an investigation of the proposed Nickel Plate merger and of the acquisition of control of the Gulf Coast lines by the Missouri Pacific. No action was taken on the resolution, but it is understood that a similar effort may be revived.

The merger hearings also have given an indication of what may be expected if and when outright consolidations are permitted under the law. The Van Sweringens are seeking to bring the properties they control by stock ownership under a common management under that part of the law authorizing the commission to permit one carrier to acquire control of another by lease or stock ownership. Technically, what is proposed is not consolidation.

Charge Receivership Plot.

The Milwaukee receivership has undoubtedly brought into issue the relation of large banking interests to the railroads. The charge has been made that this receivership could have been avoided but that large financial interests decreed otherwise. The interstate commerce commission, which has instituted an investigation of the Milwaukee case, is expected to inquire into the basis for that charge. The commission's investigation may forestall an investigation by congress, but it will not prevent considerable discussion of the case in the house and senate at the next session.

Opposition of Milwaukee security holders to the reorganization plan announced last week, if continued, will result in proposed legislation designed to protect the interests of rail security holders in such cases.

VARIETY

Spaghetti contains a larger percentage of protein than potatoes.

It is easy to digest, and, because of the protein, it is a body and tissue builder.

For variety's sake, it might be well to substitute spaghetti for potatoes from time to time.

At CHILDS this substitution will be made upon request;

Or baked spaghetti with cheese may be ordered as a special dish.

To advertisers:

If Liberty were a hundred years old—

it could not have a greater degree of public acceptance than it has right now!

What is the soundest country in the world? . . . Is it the oldest country?

AGE has very little to do with public acceptance. It did not take long for the public to accept 350 million dollars worth of radio equipment and 11 million flivvers.

"Public acceptance" swept the bicycle from the boulevards as it smiled a welcome to the motor car.

SALES are the only expression of acceptance.

In a hotly competitive market, acceptance is the manufacturer's unerring gauge of the merit of his product.

If he evades the question of downright merit—if he forces sales by handing out price cuts or premiums—"public acceptance" becomes a dubious quantity. His future is not secure. But if his product depends only on merit for a continuation of acceptance he is rewarded with a continuous volume of sales.

IN judging the degree of acceptance of a magazine, the national advertiser should be as stringent as the public is.

It would be only good business to apply the severest possible test. This would be to grant "acceptance" only in proportion to a magazine's continuous voluntary purchases for cash.

This is the only way a magazine can prove that it has "public acceptance."

Acceptance of this kind is all that an advertiser receives from any magazine whether it's in its second year or its thousandth.

Under that severest scrutiny Liberty's million net paid each week—sold only for cash in advance, on merit alone, 99% newsstand and boy sales—is the public's emphatic expression of its acceptance of Liberty.

WHITE WATER

By ROBERT E. PINKERTON

Reg. U. S. Patent Office.

SYNOPSIS.

Larry Vail, a handsome young woodsman, is commissioned by Howard Franklin to build a hunting lodge on Franklin's forest preserve. With the help of two friends, Hughie Knowles and Sid Evans, Larry works all through the winter. In the spring Franklin comes up to inspect the cabins and finds them satisfactory. He goes to California on business, but Mrs. Franklin, her maid Jane, and Mr. Franklin's niece, Marcia Kerr, come to spend the summer at the camp. Mrs. Franklin is interested in taking pictures of the deer and asks Larry to accompany her as guide on her photographic expeditions. On a day when Mrs. Franklin is not feeling well Larry and Marcia go fishing. When they return Relda Franklin is unable to control her anger against Marcia for taking Larry. Two days later the photographic expeditions are resumed. On their way back to camp a storm overtakes them and they go for shelter to a little cabin in the woods. Relda is terrified and clings to Larry in fear. He puts his arms about her to soothe her and she loses her head and begs him to go away with her. Larry repulses her. On their return to camp they find Howard Franklin has unexpectedly arrived.

Marcia gains her uncle's consent to return with him to the States to prepare herself for a job. Larry offers his resignation to Franklin. The latter confides to Larry that he has taken over the Bagnall timber mill, near Sabawi, and offers him the job of running it. Larry accepts and Franklin returns to California. Sid Evans comes to the mill to work for Larry, and the latter learns from old Hughie Knowles that Sid makes occasional visits to the Franklin camp to see Relda Franklin.

Jefferson Shand, one of a small group of men who own the hunting property jointly with Howard Franklin, comes to camp. With Relda's help, Shand proposes to get possession of Franklin's mill. Larry sends to headquarters for a reliable office manager and Marcia appears in answer to his request. Against his will he agrees to let her work in the mill office. Larry cut all the available timber in record time. He is given power of attorney by Franklin and told to dispose of the timber. He receives a fair offer for the lot and accepts it for immediate delivery. The contract carries a time penalty clause. Larry and Marcia go on a hunting expedition into the woods. They each realize that they love each other, but Larry does not speak of love to Marcia.

A government inspector is sent to Sabawi to cancel the Bagnall Timber company's cutting permit.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

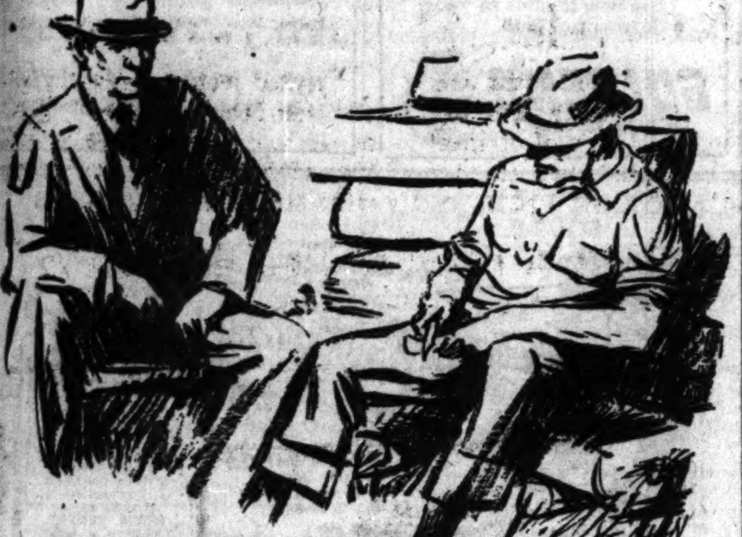
ON GUARD.

For the first time Williams, the government inspector, turned his eyes from Larry's face. He looked down the track for a moment and then said: "Let's find a comfortable place to sit down. You do not seem to have a thorough understanding of the situation. Some place in the sun. I find these fall days very chilly."

He led the way to the end of the platform, upon which he sat. Larry found a seat on a pile of ties, facing him.

"As I said," Williams began, "this is a flagrant case. It was brought to the chief's attention. As soon as he was assured of the facts, which was easily done, he canceled the permit. He was very much worked up about it, and I might tell you that his word is final."

"You mean I've got to lie down and take this?" Larry demanded angrily.



"Maybe," Larry agreed indifferently as he carefully shaved a tiny bit off of one side of the canoe.

"Well, just because this chief of yours has the last word is no reason I can't go down to Toronto and tell him where he's made a mistake."

Williams appeared to be wholly unimpressed by Larry's anger or declaration of intentions. He looked across the yards and smiled, and his smile was as cold and fishy as his eyes.

"It is hardly possible that you know the chief" he said. "In the first place, he is Scotch. In the second, he is rather zealous in maintaining the power he holds and he is satisfied that no injustice has been done in this instance. You could accomplish nothing with him, for he believes he has made adequate recompense."

Larry was about to utter an indignant retort, but a trace of oil had crept into Williams' tone. It made him cautious, and he remembered, too, what had happened as he walked to town from the mill, and what Hopler, the cruiser, had told him. He leaned forward, picked up a piece of pine and, taking out his knife, began to whittle.

"How does this chief think he has been so just?" he asked, and this time the anger was simulated.

"His first act was to withdraw the so-called Bagnall limit. The permit was canceled. The cruiser reported that the logging methods had been disgraceful, that the limit never should have been loggd in the first place as there was much young timber, stuff too small to be cut and yet which would be greatly damaged in taking out the other. There will be no more cutting there for thirty years at least."

Larry bent closer over his whittling. There was no young timber in the Bagnall slashings, and he knew Hopler would not have reported so.

"It was called to the chief's attention, however, that the present owner of the mill, who was in no way responsible for Bagnall's acts and had obtained the property in good faith, would suffer," Williams continued. "His action was characteristic. He considered the question for a moment and then turned to the map of the district.

"'That matter is easily disposed of,' he said in his curt, decisive manner. 'Here are forty million feet immediately adjoining the limit in question. Inform the new owner of the mill when he is notified of the cancellation that he has the first opportunity to apply for a permit to cut this forty million feet. And let him know that the application will be granted.'

"He closed the case then and there. It cannot be reopened. And, as you see, instead of having a limit containing thirty-five million feet you now have one at no greater distance from your mill which contains forty million. There remains only the forwarding of the papers to Mr. Franklin and the matter is settled. He will understand, of course, when the matter is explained to him, and you can understand now why I have come to Sabawi."

"I see," Larry said without looking up. "I won't have to do that, though. He wired me to go ahead as I thought best, and he had already sent me power of attorney to do such things for him."

"Power of attorney! Do you mean you could sign the papers applying for the new limit?"

"Sure. Anything like that. He sent me half a dozen copies of it."

"Well, well!" Williams exclaimed with relief. Then he added quickly, "That saves me considerable trouble. I was told to remain here until the affair was settled, but now I can catch the afternoon train east."

"Of course," and Larry spoke slowly, for his attention seemed to be divided by his whittling, "there's one little thing the matter of that limit. The forty million's there, but there ain't any way to get it out."

"No way to get it out! Absurd! I never heard of such a thing."

"Maybe, but older hands than I am have tried to find a way and couldn't."

"H'm!" Williams exclaimed, and Larry, glancing up, saw an angry gleam in the man's eyes. He returned to his whittling.

"I presume," Williams remarked after a moment, "that Mr. Franklin knows of this."

"He doesn't even know the timber's there," Larry answered.

"That fact is not well known, then?"

"Bagnall had an outfit look it over once, and the government has estimated it. Those men know."

Williams glanced shrewdly at Larry, but could see only the top of his hat. The young man seemed to be absorbed in getting the right flare to the bow of a tiny canoe he was fashioning out of the soft pine.

The modern business man with his desk chair so cleverly placed that a visitor can see little more than a silhouette against the bright glare of a broad window is only employing a bit of age old wisdom that recognizes the enormous value of the eyes in conversation. A man's eyes may belie his words, may express fear, avarice, uneasiness, confidence, exultation. They afford intimate, accurate glimpses of thoughts he believes are hidden, give the true shading and inflection to statements.

David Harum was only one of thousands of horse traders who knew this. The cowpuncher, squatting on one heel and tracing figures in the dust, is acting on the same psychological principle, is maddening the man with whom he talks, hiding all save what he wishes to give. He can say one thing and mean something else and the other, perplexed and irritated by his helplessness, drops his guard in the end.

"I have been told," Williams said, "that you have been operating this mill very efficiently. It seems to me that a clever young man could find a way to log that limit."

"Maybe," Larry agreed indifferently, as he carefully shaved a tiny bit off one side the canoe.

"And you have been working for Franklin how long?"

"Three-four months."

"Your first position of the sort, is it not?"

"Yes."

"You receive, perhaps, a hundred and seventy-five dollars a month?"

"Maybe."

"A hundred and fifty, then. That's eighteen hundred a year. Much more than you ever earned before, I imagine."

Larry noddd. Williams remained silent for a time.

"I have been told that Mr. Franklin is confining his operations to the [illegible] coast," he remarked at last. "Entirely different methods of logging [illegible] there. If he should sell here, or leave for any reason, you would be out [illegible]. Under present conditions there are few such positions in Ontario."

By Mae Tinee.

Good Morning!

Mae Busch gives her best to this picture. It's her custom to do that little thing and her work is always a joy—to me, I know. SO, because she's in "The Triflers" it is by no means the worst picture in the world. Without her it would be pretty bad I'm afraid.

The picture starts with Marjorie Stockton giving a dinner to seventeen men who, as soon as she came into a fortune, proposed to her. She has asked them to dine that she may answer them "individually, collectively, literally and emphatically 'NO!'" She thinks they all are triflers.

After her announcement she leaves the disgruntled seventeen at table and walks from the room. Standing outside the portals is a stalwart young man who has been admitted while dinner was in progress.

"Did you hear my funny after dinner speech, Monte?" she asks. He says he did and she asks him what he thinks of it. He replies that he thought the pot had called the kettles black and reminds her that she's a good deal of a trifler herself.

She gets pretty mad at him. Later she marries him. The marriage takes place because she needs protection from one of the turned down seventeen who pursues her with threats and a pistol. Monte, it seems, is sort of popular with the fair sex and he thinks a wife would be a help to him. It starts out as one of these E. Glyn business arrangements.

Shortly after Miss Stockton becomes Mrs. Covingon, another suitor who has gone blind from worry over her, is brought out to California where she is, by his devoted sister. Nobody knows she's married, you see.

"Only you can heal his eyes," the sister tells her. The blind suitor beseeches her to kiss his eyes and make them well. She kisses them and is caught in the act by her husband—who by now, you know, loves her with a mad, devouring, silent passion which she returns with inarticulate devotion.

He takes her to one side and tells her he's going to Honolulu. The blind man discovers the true situation. He makes things right between husband and wife, and his self sacrifice cures his eyes. Wonderful.

Just as the happy married pair are to have their first real kiss, however, the wild-eyed boy with the gun gets busy from behind some bushes. Both are shot.

"We had it coming to us dear," says the wounded wife as she falls back in her wounded husband's arms.

When they wake up they're in twin beds in the hotel. The lady's maid sits beside the lady. The gentleman's valet sits beside the gemmun. When Monte wants to kiss Marjorie the help pushes the beds together. Kiss over, back go the beds. On this highly original comedy note "The Triflers" ends.

The supporting cast is a good and O, so brave, one. Any man who would play the role Elliott Dexter has as the blind suitor deserves a croix du guerre! It is idiotic.

NOT a picture I urge you to see unless you think—as I do—that Miss Busch makes any picture worth seeing.

See you tomorrow! (Look at all the sees flying around!)

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. A. J. Burnham, Morrison hotel [room 1412], was awarded $5.

The Question.

Have the new Lake Michigan foghorns interfered with your sleep?

Where Asked.

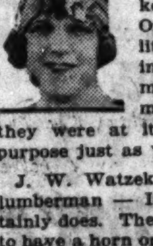
Oak street beach.

The Answers.

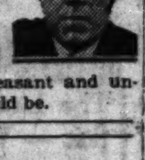
T. L. Gilmer, 148 West Locust street, electrician — Only two things bother me in that respect. One is the heat, and one can't do anything about that. The other is the snoring by a nearby friend, and a well thrown pillow or something stops that. As to the foghorn, it's like a cow with the asthma.

Mrs. Anna Pierman, 65 West Maple street, housewife — I'm kicking about that nearly every night. Last Friday night it was going until morning. Foghorns are all right and necessary, but why not make it one note that is a note? Or make it two or more—anything that will get some harmony into it.

Walter E. Sargeant, 148 West Locust street, clerk—O, no, I can't say that it does. A city without any strange noises wouldn't be a city. I remember the first time I heard that queer thing I thought it was a curfew for something; then after that it reminded me of wartime 5:30 reveille.



Mrs. Edna Anderson, 928 North La Salle street, housewife —Well, I hear it a lot of times but it doesn't keep me awake nights. One occasionally does a little thinking, wondering why they didn't make the sound a little more musical while they were at it—it would serve its purpose just as well.



J. W. Watzek, Jr., Webster hotel, lumberman — It certainly does. They have to have a horn or something out there. A bell probably wouldn't be loud enough. Anyhow that siren ought to be made so that it will give out an even tone. As it is, it is as unpleasant and unmusical as anything could be.

THEATER

Miss Ann Harding will pass from the rôle of Venice in "The Green Hat" Saturday night, to be replaced by Miss Selina Fetter Royle, who acted in Chicago three years ago with William Courtney in a poor little comedy named "A Temporary Husband." She is the daughter of Edwin Milton Royle, who many years ago gave up acting for playwriting: his best-remembered work is "The Squaw-Man." Miss Royle takes two-thirds of her name from her mother, a well-known actress as Selina Fetter. . . . As to Miss Harding, it is the wish of her manager, A. H. Woods, to have her at the head of the cast in his try-out of a play from the French; and it is said also that he has her in mind for "The Pelican," an English piece for which Miss Mary Newcomb has been mentioned.

I think pretty well of the explanation made by a Chicagoan when asked why Michael Arlen gave such a name as Venice to the luckless lass in his tale and play—"Because she is all wet." . . . The explanation is not Mr. Arlen's.

Miss Gabby La Brune rushes this by messenger to Tribune Square:

"Would it lend a Chicago interest to the Bryan-vs.-Scopes clash if I were to ask, rhetorically, why it is that the job of writing ads for a play called 'The Gorilla' causes a man to make a monkey of himself?"

And I should hardly think so, Miss La Brune. You see, the play might have been called something else than "The Gorilla," for one thing. For another, it is best to believe that the Almighty plans an occasional case of involution.

Miss Grace George, who for a time considered lengthening her stay in the Studebaker beyond the coming Saturday, will late that night say she has had her season, and cease until the Autumn her delightful acting in "She Had to Know." This is a gay and brainy, light and competent example of modern French comedy that, with Miss George in the principal rôle, gives big and fine reward to the audience. She has been better in nothing else than in this; and that is my notion of high praise, in view of her being the most accomplished actress of high-comedy in the English-speaking theater today.

Miss Elinor Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson, made her début as an actress last night in "Lightnin'," put on for the week by the Players' Guild, the weekly-change company resident for the Summer in the Davidson Theater, Milwaukee. . . . Miss Patterson is a member of the company for the season, and is cast in the dramatization of "Enchanted April," which will have its première next Sunday night.

Walter M'Nally Wins Favor in Song Recital

Big Sisters Profit by His Concert Performance.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Big Sisters, a charitable organization, profited considerably by yesterday afternoon's proceedings at the Great Northern theater, the same being a song recital by Walter McNally, who for the last several weeks has been in the habit of singing the baritone role in "The Student Prince" on the same stage.

Mr. McNally is the possessor by nature and acquirement of a brilliant voice, an uncommonly distinct enunciation of the English language, and an air of amiable emotion toward his songs. Consequently his dealings with the songs of Ireland, which made up a good part of his list, were distinctly ingratiating, more so than with operatic arias, since they gave better opportunity for his rather free manner with the conventionalities of tempo, at times rhythm, and occasionally voice production.

As the nearest thing to a program which approached the reporter's seat consisted of two leaflets of steamship sailings, there is a little excusable doubt concerning some details of the recital. Among the arias, however, there were Handel's "Ombra mai fu," colloquially known as the "Largo," and Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" Prologue. Mr. McNally was assisted by the violinist, Wladyslava Heymar, who plays intelligently, sincerely, and at times brilliantly. The long familiar "Hejre Kati," founded upon gypsy airs, was greatly approved by the audience.

Cave Thompson, whose handicap of blindness has not been permitted to interfere with his career as a professional pianist, gave his annual recital at the Playhouse. Heard in some Chopin numbers and a group of seldom heard numbers from the Russians, he exhibited excellent command of the keyboard and considerable individuality of interpretation.

Evening concerts were given by Jessamine Ceriale, soprano, at the Eighth street theater, and by the Stockholm University singers, conducted by Einar Ralf, at the Auditorium.

Word from Philadelphia indicates that Eric DeLamarter's new symphony, which he calls "After Walt Whitman," made something of a hit when it had its first performance on any stage in that city Friday night. Mr. DeLamarter conducted it, also taking the baton for his organ concerto, in which latter Palmer Christian played the solo part.

Cardinal Dedicates Chapel Memorial to Lieut. Edward Hines

Prelate, priest and layman joined yesterday in a spiritual and temporal memorial to Lieut. Edward Hines Jr., who lost his life in France during the world war, when George Cardinal Mundelein consecrated the new $500,000 chapel at St. Mary of the Lake seminary at Mundelein. The chapel was presented to the archdiocese of Chicago, and to Cardinal Mundelein, by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines as a memorial to their son. Six bishops, twelve monsignori and a large number of clergy and laity were present at the ceremonies, which began at 6 o'clock.

At eleven o'clock, a procession of the clergy, preceded by the vested choirs of Quigley Preparatory seminary and St. Mary of the Lake seminary, entered the church for the pontifical mass, sung by the Rt. Rev. James A. Griffin, D. D., bishop of Springfield. Assisting clergy were the Rt. Rev. James Horsburgh, deacon of the mass; the Rev. John Doody of Quigley Preparatory seminary, subdeacon; the Very Rev. Mons. D. J. Dunne, the Rev. Francis A. Ryan, assistant chancellor, and the Rev. Joseph Morrison, master of ceremonies.

Also present in the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. Peter J. Muldoon, bishop of Rockford, and the Rt. Rev. Allerdin, bishop of Belleville. The sermon was preached by the Rt. Rev. Francis Clement Kelly, bishop of Oklahoma. Cardinal Mundelein, garbed in the red "cappa magna," or great cape, and red biretta, attended by four pages, occupied the throne at the left of the sanctuary.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines, their son, Ralph, and close relatives occupied the front pews. The new chapel is the last link in the chain of buildings composing the seminary, representing in all a total investment of nearly $5,000,000.

Friends Pay Tribute to Senator McCormick

Byron, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—Ogle county tonight paid honor to the memory of the late Senator Medill McCormick when more than 3,000 persons who regarded the owner of Rock River farms as a neighbor and friend, were joined by state and national dignitaries in an impressive service. Mrs. McCormick and her three children were present.

The Rev. W. H. Armstrong, pastor of the little country church where the senator and Mrs. McCormick attended while residing at their country estate, presided, and after reading the Fifteenth chapter of Corinthians, selected by the late senator as his favorite portion of scripture, introduced Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois.

"The record made by Medill McCormick during his service in the senate is unsurpassed in the history of that body," Senator McKinley said. "He was appointed on more prominent committees during his first term than the average senator reaches in three."

The Rev. Fr. Russell I. Wilbur of St. Louis spoke of the strong personality of Mr. McCormick and of his manner of encouraging the best there was in a person's character.

Adj. Gen. F. S. Dickson, former secretary and political adviser of the senator, also spoke of the personality of his late chief.

The Byron school children sang the favorite hymns of the senator during the program.

Tribune's Free Ice Distribution to Be Started Today

Distribution of TRIBUNE free ice begins today.

The ice wagons that have become so familiar along the narrow, crowded streets in the city's poorer districts will take up their old routes again to exchange their chilly cargo for the tickets distributed by the workers of the United Charities settlements.

Originally it was planned to start the free ice season on June 15, but the excessive heat made it apparent that an advance of a week in the date might save many lives.

Already the donations for the free ice fund are beginning to demonstrate that the great majority of people realize the relief ice brings to the families reached through THE TRIBUNE. Those who have sent gifts in the past are ready and willing to contribute again this season.

But the heated season is on three weeks ahead of its usual time, and it appears more ice than ever will be needed if babies' lives are to be saved and sickness and suffering among the poor avoided.

The sun is already taking its toll. Mail in your donation today. Checks should be mailed to THE TRIBUNE, and will be acknowledged if marked for the free ice fund.

Don't Condemn Him, Girls, on Account of His Oxford Trousers

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Do clothes make the man, and fancy things like bell-bottomed trousers unmake him?

Miss Rebecca West, famous English novelist, during a sprightly debate at the London School of Economics, lately, denounced the wide Oxford trousers as "profound" in their significance. She did not grant them to be merely frivolous in aspect, but indicative of the growing effeminacy of man.

We might be moved to agree with Rebecca if our eyes had not gazed upon the long locks of medieval chieftains, the curly wigs or abundant coiffures of cavaliers, as painted by Vandyke. How about the bejewelled and befrilled gentlemen of the Elizabethan age? Or, to get a little closer to home and father's mauve shirt, how about the hair ribbons and the satin trousers of our own early history?

You cannot say that during any of these periods men abandoned fighting to devote their lives to personal decoration. Look at a picture of the Duke of Wellington if you don't believe a man can be a dandy and still be a great fighter.

One of the favorite indoor sports in a family of colonial descendants is to produce a photograph of an exquisitely clad ancestor and relate how he used to swear like a sea pirate if his frilled jabot and lace cuffs weren't "fluted" with perfect precision. A pretty tough customer he was, from family accounts, in spite of his dress idiosyncrasies.

Clothes are not character revelations. Another war like that of ten years ago would prove the point over again. The navy would distinguish itself no less than it did in the last, with its bell-bottomed breeches.

The crosses in Chateau Thierry and Belleau Wood mark, row by row, something far more fundamental than the cut of the trousers. Go on up to Vimy Ridge and Verdun where the "Ladies from Hell" made history in skirts.

No, you cannot judge a man by his trousers, his pink shirt, nor his lavender evening clothes. You don't even need the test of war. Virility, pluck, perseverance are shown in the daily effort of making a living, accomplished sometimes in white spats and candy striped shirts.

Perhaps this gaiety and color men are injecting into the scene is simply nature's way of reviving her favorite art of romance. You know the way she plumes males of the animal species to liven up the courtship seasons. Since women have eschewed the frills and furbelows and aim to look more like boys than the mysterious, alluring creatures they are supposed to be to attract them, some one has come to to rescue of romance.

So why pick on the pink shirt, the pastel weskit, or the out-swaying pant leg?

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Value of Clothes.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl, 20, and have been going for three years with a fellow two years my senior. We have gone together during that time to many parties and dances. I have always been a little embarrassed at his careless appearance. He is good looking and clean enough, but never takes the pains with himself that other fellows do. On several occasions I have hinted at this by admiring the slick, clean cut appearances of other fellows, but my hints seem to be of no avail. What am I to do? I am engaged to this fellow and we care a great deal for each other. Would you suggest that I say something to him directly about his one and only fault, or do you think it might hurt his feelings?

"WORRIED."

You're sure you are not desirous of making a collar ad out of your suitor? Not that I underestimate the value of clothes to the man—but would you trade him for one of those patent-haired, cake-eater type of dressers? If a man is shiftless, careless about his person and clothes, a girl might be well justified in complaining of this as a fault. But, rather than hurt his feelings by open criticism of one whose only dress fault is that he is not stylish, why not wait until you marry him and then go with him when he buys his clothes.

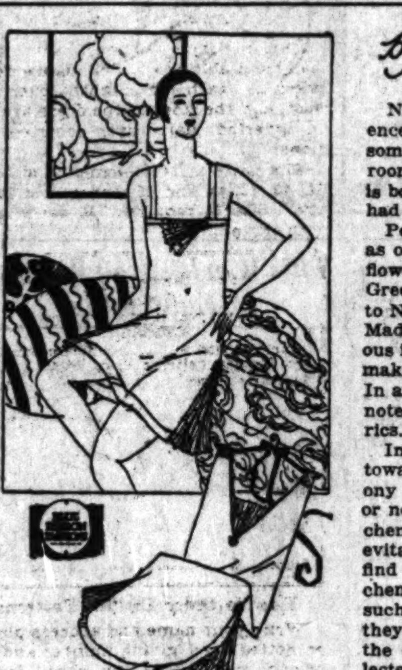
Five Years Wasted.

"Dear Miss Blake: I've been keeping company with a young man for five years, and he has been good to me and taken me out, and now he is on the police force and doesn't take me out as he used to. He tells me he likes to go out with the boys. Do you think he has a new lady friend?

"F. E. Y."

It looks that way, F. E. Y., don't you think? Either that or he has grown tired of you and is looking for another.

Lingerie Is Partial to Insets of Net



by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—In the boudoir it's always blossom time. Be it January or June, the room where milady sorts her lingerie is bound to look as if fruits and flowers had scattered petals there.

Perhaps flesh tint is not so popular as of yore, but all the other fruity and flowery shades seem much in demand. Greens ranging from the palest willow to Nile; delicate yellows; pervenche and Madonna blues; the orchid range; various inflections of rose—these go toward making it always June near our hearts. In addition to the plain colors there is noted also a trend toward figured fabrics.

Insets have certainly done much toward relieving any possible monotony of line. Fan shaped pieces of lace or net are introduced into nightgowns, chemises, and slips—all with an inevitable effect of elaboration. Thus we find the set of nightgown and step-in chemise, here illustrated, benefiting by such inserted sections. In this case they are of fine net matching in hue the daffodil yellow crêpe de chine selected as the foundation. To make more sure of their purpose, the net is further embroidered in blue dots, and the nightgown matches this blue embroidery with its narrow ribbons.

Bright Sayings of the Children

It was the last day of school, and I took my Geraldine to the closing exercises.

Richard, a neighbor boy, entertained the audience by a whistling solo.

"What did Dick do on the program?" daddy asked later.

"Why, he blew," Geraldine replied gravely.

Gertrude often takes care of her young cousin, David. David is a wild little fellow and one day while in his cousin's care he suffered a bad fall.

When his mother returned Gertrude told her all about the accident and added, "Auntie, if David doesn't get quieter I'm afraid one of these days he will be seriously killed." C. S. C.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

In Search of a Book.

"I am anxious to get a book called 'Natural Law in the Spiritual World,' by Drummond. I once had it, but it was borrowed by a friend who has never returned it. I cannot afford to buy a new copy and have thought it posible one of your readers might have it to give. M. G. R."

If you happen to have a copy of this book, which you do not wish to keep, we shall be glad to put you in touch with our correspondent.

Needs Cab for Twins.

"Has any one a twin or large sized baby carriage to give to a woman for her twin boys who are 5 months old? She is eager to give them proper care and if she had a carriage she would be able to take them outdoors regularly and to the Infant Welfare clinic, where they are weighed and measured and have proper diets prescribed by the doctor. C. P. P."

These future citizens of ours should have every care from the start, and I am sure the gift of a buggy to this mother will enable her to take better care of her baby boys.

A new easy way to add flavor to food

Good housewives know that pure mustard brings out the flavor of food, just as salt does. They use it regularly for seasoning gravies, for adding a dash to vegetables. The Gulden bottle is always on the table to give that different touch to meat.

See how it adds to your enjoyment of food.

Mere Hot Wave Can't Halt Mrs. Cecil Barnes' Labors for Bryn Mawr

BY NANCY R——.

Hot weather fazes some of us, as far as being really active goes, but not those three attractive and energetic Ayer sisters, Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, and Mrs. Cecil Barnes. They never seem too hot or too tired to dash somewhere for some one, and whatever they're up to is interesting to all concerned.

Mrs. Cecil Barnes, who's busy every minute with literary, histrionic, collegiate or family affairs, found Friday not at all too highly temperatured to rush from the Pennsylvania station directly out to the Scribblers luncheon in Lake Forest, to share news of the Bryn Mawr commencement with her fellow scribblers, see the play, and discuss plans for her European jaunt this summer. She had fine reports to make of the Bryn Mawr million dollar campaign (more than half that amount has already been achieved), and she was confident that the treasure hunt (for Bryn Mawr's benefit, you know), which was on the books for that evening, would be a howling success.

From the accounts of those who took part, it most certainly was. The committee in charge, chairmanned by Mrs. Ted Brown, had arranged most intricate and enchanting clues—two quite different routes for the dozens of motor cars that set out from Onwentsia at nine to search for the treasure. North, south, east and west the trail of automobiles went, at high speed, running down such veiled hints as "Les jumeaux en tout cas," which turned out to be the twin tennis courts at Shore Acres, but which many pursuers decided must be the Noble Judahs' young twins (much to the discomfiture of the Judah ménage, suddenly awakened by an invading horde of motorists demanding the way to the next clue); "The House of Conversation," at first thought to be the tea shop or the instructor in French conversation, but which was discovered to mean the telephone company, "Gas at High Noon," the gasoline station at Half Day, where two human clues were parked until eleven in the night punching tickets and directing others on; "Follow the Pigeons Back Home" (the trapshooting range at Onwentsia), and many others equally puzzling and delightful.

There was no such thing as etiquette on the books; when you reached an appointed spot you set your car either so that those following couldn't get in, or so that those already there couldn't get out—and it was all done in a spirit of good fun and adventure that made the evening quite perfect.

The young George F. McLaughlins and their carload reached the Villa Venice first, their tickets correctly punched eight times, and dug up the treasure quite in the manner of "Treasure Island," and then crowed over the rest of the hunters who arrived too late to share in the profit, but in time for the supper dance that lasted until the wee sma' hours of Saturday morning.

Day's News in Society

A large society crowd is expected to attend the Russian student refugees' ball and entertainment at the Trianon this evening. Many of the smart set are to occupy boxes and some are to give dinners before the dance. The program will include Russian singing and dancing, orchestral and choral music. General dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock. Boxholders include John A. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, the Potter Palmers, Prince and Princess Michel Cantacuzene, Mr. and Mrs. Aldis Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Coleman, Miss Freda Foltz, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, Mrs. Emmons Blaine and Mrs. William Prescott Hunt. Mrs. Joseph B. Long will give a dinner and a box party, and Prince and Princess Michel Cantacuzene are to have a large dinner before the affair. Miss Emily Bissell, Mrs. Edward Vilas Platt and Mme. Ivanenko are also to be dinner hostesses.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster of Lake Forest will give a luncheon today for members of her committee working on details for the Lake Forest Garden club flower show to be given on June 26 and 27 on Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's estate. Also to be Mrs. Brewster's guests will be presidents of various garden clubs in and near Chicago.

Mrs. Frederick T. Hoyt of the Lake Shore Drive hotel will sail on July 1 for three months' travel in Europe. Mr. Hoyt will spend the summer at the Exmoor Country club.

Calls Clergy's Lack of Honesty to Blame for Tennessee Trial

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The condition which has made the Tennessee evolution case possible was blamed yesterday on the lack of honesty of the pastors of the country in declining to preach to the people what they themselves believed. The charge was made by Dr. Lynn Harold Hough, pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal church of Detroit and former president of Northwestern university, who spoke at the chapel of the Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, which began yesterday a three days' commencement program.

"We are paying a price for our lack of honesty," Dr. Hough said to the graduating class. "That curious fantasy in Tennessee where a young teacher is being tried for teaching evolution is not simply the result of Mr. Bryan with his empty mind. For twenty-five years the evolutionary conceptions of the old testament have been accepted by us preachers as a b c's but we have not preached them to the people as we ought.

"The same is true in regard to our preaching on the subject of sex. The doctrine of Freud that reproduction is the central motive power in the universe may be true, but it has ruined millions by confining the subject simply to physical reproduction. There is also a spiritual and intellectual reproduction. We must teach young people to face the reality of their fundamental instincts but they must also be taught the higher motives which must transcend the physical."

In a baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Chicago Law school in the Chicago temple yesterday, Dr. John Thompson, pastor of the temple, declared it was an utter absurdity that John Scopes, the Tennessee teacher, should be tried for teaching a scientific truth he believed.

"It is not a question as to how long man has been in developing but how far he has developed that interests me," said Dr. Thompson. "If I knew my ancestor was an ape I would hang his picture in my study and then I would congratulate myself I had made such improvement."

The baccalaureate sermon of the Chicago Theological seminary, Congregational, was preached yesterday by Dr. A. W. Palmer, pastor of the First Congregational church, Oak Park, on the lawn of the seminary at 5757 University avenue.

"The reason of our international difficulties is the result of our lack of understanding between the various races," said Dr. Palmer.

"We practice courtesy in our homes, our business relations, between teacher and pupil in the school, but we are too severe in our international judgments. We need more courtesy."

Ginger Ale Jelly.

No recipes seem yet to have appeared for such items as ginger ale jelly, the beet essences and other things of this latter type, such as are used as alternates for the jellied or iced bouillon.

The following was an effort to make a ginger ale jelly, and the product aroused real enthusiasm when it was tried on a young neighbor.

The formula as finally worked out was: One twelve ounce bottle of superior ginger ale, two teaspoons of gelatin mixed with two tablespoons of sugar, two tablespoons of lemon juice, and one tablespoon of grenadine sirup. Heat the ginger ale to boiling, pour over sugar and gelatin, and add the lemon juice and the grenadine sirup.

An untried gelatin was used, and the directions to mix it with sugar and pour hot liquid on it were followed. As the ginger ale gelatin and sugar gave but an insipid liquid, the lemon juice was added and then the grenadine to tinge it and, as it happened, to deepen the fruity flavor and make it uncertain as to just what fruit juice had been added.

The young woman tasting this could not guess its composition, but when she knew she commended the "back kick" which the ginger ale gave, and the fruitiness of the whole appealed to her.

The Wrong Door.

I was paying my first call on a family of girls. Calling on the ladies is not in my line, as I'm very bashful at best. After an evening of rather painful commonplaces, during which I felt my hostesses trying to put me at my ease, I rose to go, discouraged by my lack of social finesse.

As I bade them what I tried to make a dignified though hurried good-by I seized the handle of the nearest door—there were three opening from the room—and was about to plunge blindly out. There was a warning cry from the girls and a smothered giggle. I had opened the door to the in-a-door bed!

Confusion worse confounded, I dashed out this time, vowing to myself it would be my last, as well as my first, visit.

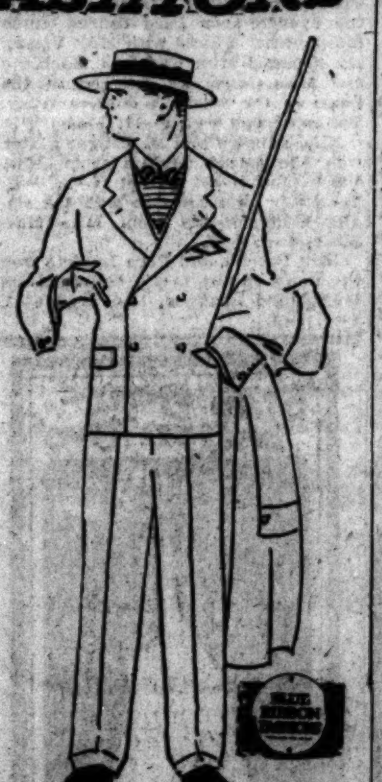
MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

Correct Day Wear.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The smart looking young man with us today is an example of what can be achieved with the right sort of double breasted jacket and a horizontally striped shirt. The combination is always smart, if the color scheme is clever. The young man in this case has a dark blue suit and a shirt of black and white stripes, a stiff turn down collar and a bow tie of black and silver stripes. His hat band is blue and black, and his shoes are also black.



This is a good outfit for city summer wear, yet it is not to be taken for semi-formal wear. For such, the black or oxford jacket, with odd striped or checked trousers, is the correct sartorial get-up. With regard to this form of semi-day dress, there are certain warnings that should be issued to the unwary. For instance, if you are going to take up this costume, you should do so with the idea of doing the thing right, and not use half way measures with it. If you don't intend to wear with the jacket the proper accessories, you shouldn't wear it at all, but stick to your regular suit.

With the semi-formal dress, the black jacket and odd trousers, straw hats are all right, and gray felt hats, but never any shade of brown felt hat. Nor are tan shoes allowable. The shoes should be either plain black calf oxfords, or black kid. Loud ties should not be considered, and a white collar and preferably white cuffs, even if a colored shirt is worn, are correct.

R. G.: YES, BRAN IS USED TO soften hard water. To four quarts of water, add one pound of bran which has been tied up in a muslin bag. Allow this to boil for fifteen minutes. Add enough of the bran water to the bath to make it milky in appearance.

H. M. Z.: REVERSE THE POSITION of your desk and have the light come over your left shoulder. Then several times a day go to the window and look out toward the horizon for a minute or two, as this rests the eyes and will aid greatly in preserving your sight.

Take a Swim and Drown That Weary, Worn Out Feeling

by Antoinette Donnelly

Getting ready for the 'ole swimming hole? Aren't you going to take advantage of the greatest single blessed exercise in the whole bag of tricks on how to be well, healthy, and happy?

You simply cannot beat it as a means of rejuvenating yourself, especially when swimming is done outdoors. If you are too thin, you can fill out the hollows of your chest and neck by the arm movements and the full, deep breaths you must take. If you are too fat, and have the courage to resist the ice cream cones when you come out of the water, you can drown a number of pounds in a season. If you are feeling tired and logy, wishing you had some of that old pep that once made you a bright spot at the party, swim around and recover it.

I suggest this to you now because the beaches will soon be open, and you will soon be setting out on your two weeks' vacation. You don't want to let another year go by without taking advantage of this great boon to health seekers and health holders. Then, too, I want to suggest that you who have not learned to swim go to a swimming school and take a few lessons, so when the beach season is in full swing you won't be just ornamenting the sand. If you learn not to fear the water, and are familiar with the strokes you should use there's a thousand times more fun and value to be had than just wading in and splashing around near the shore edge.

Another preparatory lesson I would suggest. It serves to establish that necessary courage to wade right in. Get the morning cold plunge habit, if you haven't it already. The shower is only second best. Hop right into the cold water; splash around a couple of minutes.

There is coming a day, with all the swimming championship medals being pinned on women already, when the girl, or woman, who can't swim is going to be as lonesome at summer gayeties as the one who can't play bridge at the winter parties. So get in the swim.

Best performances—By west, 8; by east, 6; tied, 1.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

BUD HOUSER.

A review of the marks made in the eastern intercollegiate track and field championships held on Franklin field, Philadelphia, and those registered in the Western conference games in the Ohio State stadium in Columbus last Saturday shows the west excelled in eight events, the east in six, while winning pole vaulters of the two sections each cleared 13 feet.

On the track the west made better records in five of the eight events, while honors were even in the field events, as each section won three of the seven events and the other resulted in a tie. The east was better than the west in the quarter, half and mile runs, and showed to better advantage in the shot put and hammer throw. Houser of the University of California won the discus throw in the eastern meet and his performance must be credited to the eastern games although he is a western athlete.

Records Fall in Both Meets.

Some exceptional performances were registered in both sets of games. Ralph Hills of Princeton, established a new national collegiate record in the shot put with an effort of 49 feet 9⅝ inches. Justin Russell of Chicago cracked the national collegiate mark in the running high jump by clearing the bar at 6 feet 6 inches, and Clarence "Bud" Houser of Southern California tossed the discus 150 feet 2¼ inches for a new national collegiate record.

Performances of Dehart Hubbard of Michigan, who won two events in the Big Ten championships and broke Western conference and national collegiate records in one, was one of the features of both games. In the running broad jump Hubbard leaped 25 feet 3½ inches, which broke all college marks. He won his preliminary heat in the century in :09 71-100, within one hundredth of a second of the Big Ten record.

Philip Northrup of Michigan cracked the conference mark for the javelin throw by hurling the shaft 201 feet 9½ inches, which is better than the eastern intercollegiate record of 199 feet 1 inch, made by C. H. Storrs of Yale in 1923.

Should Star in Olympics.

These remarkable performances indicate some great athletes are being developed for the 1928 Olympic team. The times on the track are improving every year, while the field men are showing improvement with the holding of every set of games. Most of the athletes who performed in this year's sectional intercollegiates will be eligible for the Olympic team, as numbers of them have asserted they will compete in athletics for the next three years in order to try for the Olympic team.

Micro split-second watches, which registered hundredths of a second, were used at the Western conference games last Saturday. It was the first time such timepieces had been used, but they did not meet with popular approval of coaches and athletes.

Coach Steve Farrell of Michigan, which won the Big Ten games, asserted a standard type of watch should be adopted, and he favors one which records tenths of seconds. Some of the athletes asserted they did not care to hold joke records measured in hundredths of seconds.

Spot Turns to Midway Games.

Stars of the Big Ten games together with athletes of known ability from other sections of the country, will start to Chicago this week to compete in the National Collegiate A. A. championships on Stagg field Friday and Saturday. Coach Stagg, who is receiving the entries, has announced nominations from Amherst, Pittsburgh, Bowdoin, Wabash, Washington and Jefferson, Drake, Butler, Georgia Tech, Kansas State Aggies, Leland Stanford, California, Virginia Poly, Fairmont, Southern Methodist, Washington and Lee, Pomona, Virginia Military institute, Texas, Oklahoma A. and M., Carthage, Occidental, Oklahoma, Lehigh, Swarthmore, South Dakota, Ames, Montana, Bradley, Ohio Wesleyan and all Western conference schools together with a majority in the Missouri Valley.

The entries close today with Director Stagg at the University of Chicago at midnight.

Trojan Dash Star Here for Collegiate Meet

Brice Taylor, the colored track and football star of the University of Southern California, who finished fifth in the hundred yard dash in the eastern intercollegiates at Philadelphia, has arrived here to run in the century at the national collegiate meet at Stagg field Friday and Saturday.

Why I Took Up Golf

Lee B. Vastine is majordomo at the Oak Hills Golf club and he has some remarks to make in answer to the above question.

BY LEE B. VASTINE.

I FEEL that I owe a great deal to the game of golf and believe it by far the finest sport.

First of all, I owe to golf a great many wonderful friends met through play on the links, and I am sure there is no game which brings men closer together, cementing friendships which endure and showing man up in his true light.

LEE B. VASTINE.

A boy who caddied for me several years ago and who now is a success in business is one of my good friends.

Golf has also played a large part in keeping me physically fit, and I know of no other game which does more for the business man of today. One plays out where the air is fresh and pure over the rolling green and away from din and soot, where the birds sing happily, and the great strain on minds and nerves is relaxed.

Yes, it's a great game, fellows.

JACK, WITH THE LONG EARS.

ENROUTE to California.—Jackrabbits and meadow larks have enlivened the landscape as we sped along through Kansas today enroute to the coast. The sight of the long eared jacks has revived many memories of sage brush days in the northwest when pack rats, coyotes and rabbits were company for us on a long pack trip through the American desert.

The rabbits that we saw last night were apparently train-broken. The roaring engine and the shrill blasts of a whistle caused them to lope a few yards and then they gravely sat down on their haunches to watch the train go by as if they knew that it was harmless. A dandy waterhole at the edge of a meadow was the attraction for about ten healthy looking rabbits.

At times it seemed as if every telegraph post along the railroad right of way was the roosting place for a western meadow lark. While at Delevan, Wisconsin a few weeks ago we were talking with Prof. Edwin Frost of Yerkes observatory about the western meadow lark coming into southern Wisconsin. Prof. Frost is one of the most expert amateur ornithologists in the middle west and he has been watching for several years the gradual increase in numbers of the western species around Lake Geneva.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 7.—[Special.]—Max R. Marston and D. Clarke Corkran, Philadelphia's two most distinguished amateur golfers, today humbled those two famous professionals, Joe Kirkwood and Jack Hobans in an exhibition 36 hole match at the Huntingdon Valley Country club, 1 up. Walter Hagen, British open champion, was to have been paired with Kirkwood, but was unable to play.

Hard Work Golf Tourney at Bryn Mawr Won Brown

"Hard work" tournament was the title of the regular Sunday play at the Bryn Mawr Country club yesterday afternoon, and R. R. Brown won the event, going around the thirty-six holes in 182. The cool breezes which came in the afternoon brought out the largest crowd of the season to the club.

HIGH SCHOOL TITLE GAMES TOMORROW

First games in the championship round robin series of the City Public High School baseball league will be played tomorrow afternoon with Lane Tech, coached by Percy Moore, one of the favorites to annex the title. The Division street nine, fancied because of its ability with the stick, has drawn Calumet for its initial foe. The other game will be between Lindblom and McKinley.

With dope indicating teams of the south and west section below the strength and ability of the other two divisions, Lane and Lindblom are most likely to come out of tomorrow's game undefeated. De Paul field has been selected as the diamond for the Calumet-Lane affair, while Lindblom and McKinley are scheduled to get together at White City park.

In winning the north section title, Lane finished its schedule without a defeat. Calumet, south section king pin, received a couple of setbacks, as did McKinley, champ of the west division. Lindblom went through its games with one beating.

CATHOLICS CLOSE YEAR

With the annual track and field championships Saturday, the Catholic High School Athletic league finished the most successful year in its history, both from the standpoint of competition and general interest.

With the exception of football last fall, in which De La Salle had the right of way, the other major sports were hotly contested and went down to the home stretch before a champion was decided. In basketball and baseball an epidemic of ties cluttered up the campaigns and many extra games were played to reach a decision. The champions of the year follow:

FOOTBALL—De La Salle.
BASKETBALL—[National Catholic] St. Mel.
BASKETBALL—[Heavyweight] Loyola.
BASKETBALL—[Bantamweight] De La Salle.
BASKETBALL—[Flyweight] De La Salle.
BASKETBALL—[Lightweight] St. Patrick-St. Ignatius, tie.
TENNIS—St. Mel.
GOLF—De La Salle.
TRACK—Loyola.
BASEBALL—De La Salle-Loyola, tie.

PREPS HERE FOR NATIONAL MEET START HOME

The prep stars of the nation who performed at the University of Chicago Friday and Saturday had vacated the site of Stagg's national interscholastic track meet yesterday, after the twenty-first holding of the event, which was the most successful in the tournament's history, according to A. A. Stagg, father of the meet, and H. O. Crisler, manager.

The marks which the boys hung up, five of which will stand as records, indicated the class of the meet, while the entry list shows as conclusively that for size it was the greatest.

The 800 boys who entered hailed from 180 towns throughout the country, and the honors were fairly evenly distributed over the nation, though the middle west and western states made the stronger showing.

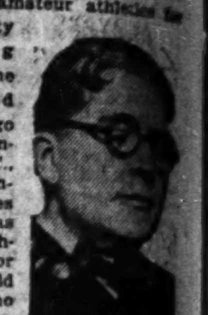
GREEN WINS OVER SHAW IN FINAL CUP NET MATCH

Al Green Jr., took the Sherwood cup finals at the Chicago Town and Tennis club courts yesterday afternoon, defeating Arthur Shaw, who, like Green, is a member of the South Side Tennis club, 3—6, 6—11, 6—4, 6—2, to win the singles honors. In doubles, Shaw, paired with Axel Gravem, former mate of George Lott Jr., defeated John Rolley and Alfred Kiser, 6—3, 6—0, 6—4.

M. A. DELANEY NAMED ADVISER FOR COPS' GAMES

Martin A. Delaney, who has been identified with amateur athletics for more than thirty years, during which time he was connected with the Chicago A. A. and Kansas City A. C., aside from coaching at universities and colleges, has been made athletic adviser for the police field day athletes who have started training for the annual games to be held in the Grant park stadium, Aug. 28 and 29.



MORGAN COLLINS. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

In addition, Delaney will be chairman of the events committee. As athletic advisor, he will have 100 trainers working under his orders. These trainers will receive information on how to train athletes and then convey the instructing to the team captains Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. Delaney will make trips into various sections personally to assist in the training.

5,000 Cops to Train.

Chief of Police Morgan Collins has issued orders to 5,000 policemen to prepare themselves for the games. There will be a series of elimination tests, with the result only the best will appear in the meet in Grant park, proceeds of which go to the policemen's benevolent fund to care for widows and families of officers slain in the line of duty.

In order to give the contestants needed experience, Delaney has planned a series of dual meets between teams in various sections. These will be friendly affairs to break the monotony of training. Delaney has several other schemes which will not only make the training more pleasant but will result in better trained athletes giving exhibitions before the mammoth crowds which will see the two day carnival.

Assures Real Meet.

Chief Collins is elated over the appointment of Delaney and will issue orders to patrolmen to heed his advice.

With Delaney in the saddle, patrons of Chicago track and field athletics are assured of a bangup athletic entertainment. There will be none of the tedious delays and every contest will be run off according to a time schedule unless something unexpected shatters Martin's well laid plans.

Delaney now has an office in the city hall in connection with the police department. His work will in no way interfere with that of Maj. Bauder, drillmaster of the police department, or others who have assumed chairmanships of the various committees.

Bad innings are becoming quite the rage with Killefer's Cubs. They stepped out handsomely again yesterday, piled up a formidable lead, and had 22,000 patrons singing their praises, but something happened. The something was a very sickening eighth round in which five Robins went flying across the plate to nose out the Bruins for the third straight time. The score was 10 to 9 and speaks for itself as to the manner in which certain pitchers suffered.

The affair fell apart at a time when Tony Kaufmann was endeavoring to save the day for Percy Lee Jones, who had to quit under pressure in the seventh. Tony cleaned up that round admirably and in the home half the Cubs celebrated by scoring three times; thus attaining a lead of 9 to 5.

It looked soft, but Kaufmann wilted like a flower out of water in the eighth and the outfield gummed up a fly ball off Rescuer Jacobs, so the five hostiles scored with no great effort and that ended the Cubs' chances, because they couldn't dope out their old pal, Ernie Osborne, who faced them in the two concluding sessions.

Infield Shaken Up.

With the hopes of improving his situation in life, Manager Killefer returned the ailing Maranville to the bench and turned up with a new infield combination. Howard Freigau moved to short and Clark Pittenger, the ex-Red Sock, went to third. The arrangement worked out ideally, as both fielded with effect and hit when hits were needed, but a few hits don't mean so much when your own pitchers are knocked all over the place by the hostiles. The knocking of the Robins yesterday totaled nineteen blows of assorted dimensions.

In justice to the Cubs it might be said luck went against them in at least one instance. They went into the sixth with a lead of 6 to 3 and Jones filled the sacks with only one out. Bad Man Wheat was up and he poked an ordinary grounder to short. For an instant there were visions of a double play, but the pill took a high hop over Freigau and two runners scored. Without that unexpected hop the ensuing innings might have been entirely different.

Cubs Go at Start.

The Cubs started powerfully by scoring four times against "Rube" Ehrhardt in the first inning. Adams, Pittenger, Freigau, and Brooks hit in succession and "Rube" assisted with a wild throw. Then the Robins responded with two tallies off Jones in the second and the Cubs came back with one in their half on hits by Pittenger and Freigau after Weis had walked. The visitors picked up another in the fourth and the Cubs did the same in the fifth. Then occurred the luckless sixth and the active home seventh, when bingles by Freigau, Weis, and Kaufmann, along with a couple of passes off Petty, scored three and apparently put the game in the cooler.

The Robins started the eighth with High, a pinch hitter. He singled. Ford rattled a double to center, scoring High. Johnston beat out a bunt and was forced by Wheat, Ford counting on the out. Kaufmann was afraid to give Fournier an appetizer, so the Frenchman walked. Brown slammed a single to left and Wheat went home, whereupon Kaufmann was yanked. Cox sent one of Jacobs' offerings high into right center and it should have been caught, but Brooks and Griffith got twisted, so the pill fell and Fournier and Brown crossed the pan with the deciding tallies.

Cricketer Sets Record as Washington Park Wins

In the Washington Park-Hindustan cricket match which the former won, 191 to 73, on its own court yesterday, a new Illinois Cricket association record was established when Templeton, a recruit being tried in his first game for the Washington Park squad, made 110 runs out of the 191 scored by his team. In the opening encounter, the International Cricket club downed Pickwick, 115 to 74, in a fast and hard fought battle.

Faber's Spitter Dazes Foe and Sox Beat Senators, 4-2

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Strong and effective pitching by old Red Faber, with his remodeled right arm, stopped the attack of the world's champion Senators today, and the Sox punched out a victory in the third game of the series, 4 to 2. Old Red held the big champs to nine scattered hits and at least four of them were decidedly flukey.

The champs really earned only one run off the veteran spitball hurler, that coming in the sixth, when Goose Goslin and Bluege delivered a two bagger apiece. The other run was a gift in the fourth, when old Red himself was guilty of an error.

Red's Arm Bothers Him.

As a pitcher the veteran looked good all the way, but in the ninth inning it was apparent that his elbow was not hinging properly. Anyway, he halted the game for a spell and another hurler began warming up in the bull pen; but after Red had rubbed the old elbow a bit and tried a couple of practice throws, he went on and finished his game without getting in danger.

Washington tried to win with an old timer, too, but it didn't work. Vean Gregg, who is a few years older than our Red, started on the rubber. He had his cunning and his experience and he had enough luck to stick to the fourth inning, when it became quite apparent he would suffer terrible distress if left in the fight. He was yanked and Ogden, the tall and husky right hander, took the job.

The Sox nicked Ogden for a run in the fifth and then he gave way to a pinch hitter and Mr. Zachary came into the fray. He went along till the eighth, when he got into a mess and was replaced by the gigantic Mr. Marberry, who has all the fans in Washington convinced he is a descendant of one of those giants of the fairy tales who ate a few children every day for lunch. The big fellow pitches in such a manner at times that he does seem to be a superman. He stopped the attack of the Sox O. K. this time, but they had the game won before he appeared.

Sox Score One at a Time.

The Sox tallied their runs one at a time, getting the first one in the second inning on a hit by Sheely, a pass to Hooper, and solid blow by Willie Kamm. In the fourth with one out Bib Falk singled and Hooper walked. Then Willie Kamm socked another solid blow, scoring Bib and sending Hooper to third; but that nice opening was spoiled a moment later when something went wrong and Hooper was picked off third.

In the fifth, with one out, Johnny Mostil combed a two bagger to left. Davis walked and, after Boss Eddie had flied out, Sheely came through with a line hit over third that scored Mostil.

The fourth run came in the eighth when, with one out, Sheely singled. Falk poled one to right, sending Earl to third and Bib scooted to second when Rice made a peg for Sheely. Hooper was purposely passed, which ended the day for Zachary and brought powerful Marberry into the game. Kamm succeeded, however, in meeting one of Marberry's speedy shoots for a long fly to right, and Sheely came home after the catch. That was the third run of the game Mr. Kamm had driven home.

Quincy, Ill., June 7.—Joe Manger, Quincy third baseman, wrote baseball history in Quincy today when he hit three home runs while Bloomington was defeating Quincy 19 to 18. Two of his home runs came in the first inning when Quincy scored 11 runs, the homers accounting for 5 runs. His other circuit clout in the sixth accounted for 2 runs. He also singled in the ninth. Manger is a rookie from Sacramento.

GAMES THIS WEEK.

Today—Indiana at Purdue.
Friday—Ohio State at Michigan.
Saturday—Michigan at Ohio State.

The Big Ten baseball season is in the tapering off process, with Indiana climbing toward the apex of the heap with promising alacrity. Last week's melees, in which the lowly Badgers nipped Ohio State, leaders through the major part of the season, 1 to 0, and in which the Hoosiers put Chicago out of the running for titular honors, leave the Indiana nine tied with the Buckeyes at the top of the ladder. And of the two outfits, the Hoosiers seem to have the easier road to the title.

That's because they must meet only one team, and that a weak one, the Boilermakers, while the Bucks have a couple of tough games on their schedule. Granted Purdue will be unable to beat Indiana, Ohio State must win both tilts to take the title.

While the dope indicates the Ohioans can do it, there would be no consternation among the fans if the Wolverines who have finished their season in middle position would cop at least one victory. Should they take both tilts the mighty Bucks would have to be satisfied with third, Chicago taking second.

The two leaders and Michigan are the only schools whose schedules have not been completed.

In Motordom

by J. L. JENKINS

CHICAGO motorists were convicted of 26,049 violations of the motor vehicle law last year, according to a report issued Saturday by Si Mayer, secretary of the Chicago police department.

By far the greatest number of violations, a total of 16,885 of which reached department records, were speeding. Of these 16,611 brought fines, 6 drivers were sent to the house of correction, 1 to the county jail, 39 were placed on probation and 1 gave peace bond.

Next in order were violators of the parking ordinance. But one parking violator was sent to jail, while 3,061 were fined during the year. The record shows that 1,775 drivers disobeyed the "boulevard stop" laws and 1,415 were haled into court for breaking rules of the road—cutting in and out of traffic, driving on the wrong side of the street, and the like.

A total of 711 intoxicated drivers show on the year's blotter. Thirteen of these drivers were sent to the county jail, 221 to the house of correction, 389 were fined and 88 placed on probation. Glaring headlights brought 84 fines and illegal use of cutouts 67 fines.

In his annual report to Mayor Dever, Ald. Frank J. Tomczak, chairman of the Chicago safety commission, recommended the establishment of an accident prevention bureau in charge of a commissioner. He urged continuous safety education and an increase in the police traffic forces.

TUNNEY FLOODED WITH OFFERS FOR BOXING MATCHES

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Gene Tunney now is one of the most sought after boxers in the ring. Since his victory over Tom Gibbons, the Greenwich Village lad has been literally flooded with offers for future matches.

Meanwhile, Tunney is scheduled to leave the city Tuesday for Tom Luther's resort at Saratoga Lake, there to resume training for an intensive campaign Gibson plans for the conqueror of Gibbons. At the end of this proposed campaign Gibson hopes is the pugilistic pot of gold—a match for Tunney against Champion Jack Dempsey.

Floyd Fitzsimmons of Michigan City, is seeking Tunney for a bout in his "sky blue arena" on July 4. Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter, who conducts bouts at East Chicago, Ind., and Jack Doyle, Vernon promoter, are some of the other promoters swamping Tunney with offers.

PILOT IS KILLED IN SPEED TRIAL AT ROBY TRACK

Driving at an average speed of 74.3 miles per hour, Harry Nichols of Chicago lowered the western dirt track record for thirty miles and established himself as the leading speedster of the season in the feature event at Roby speedway yester- His performance of 24:22 1-5 took more than 4 minutes from the thirty mile record of 28:50 1-5, made by "Pop" Clancy in 1923.

CLIFF WOODBURY. [Atwell Photo.]

Nichols defeated the veteran Cliff Woodbury by a quarter of a mile. He drove Walter Martin's new Fronty Ford, took the lead at the start, and was never headed.

Kinsley Killed In Trial.

Chance Kinsley of Indianapolis was killed while making his time trial previous to the races. Kinsley was piloting a new car which had too much speed for him. He went into the first turn too fast, lost control of his car, and was crushed when his car rolled over three times.

Several other crashes occurred during the afternoon. Harry Heinley had a spill similar to Kinsley's. He skidded at the same spot at which Kinsley had his accident, rolled over twice into the ditch, but was imprisoned under the cowl of his car. Aside from a mud bath and a few cuts he was uninjured. Gus Schrader, driving Woodbury's Peugeot in the thirty mile event, went into the ditch on the south turn, but was also unhurt.

Clancy in Fast Finish.

Three five mile events made up the balance of the program. Paul Clancy won the first of these for light cars in a driving finish with sonny Talamont. His lead of a half car length was gained in the last quarter mile of the race after Sonny had led all the way.

Ralph Eckstrom copped the second light car dash and Gus Schrader walked away with the third five mile, for heavy cars. Summaries:

5 MILES, LIGHT CARS—Paul Clancy won, Sonny Talamont second, George Beck third, Harry Nichols fourth. Time—4:09 2-5.

5 MILES, LIGHT CARS—Won by Ralph Eckstrom, E. Buck second, Harry Lewis third, C. E. Stone fourth. Time—4:21.

5 MILES, HEAVY CARS—Won by Gus Schrader, Glen Fites second, G. A. Hardy third, F. Jones fourth. Time—4:14 1-5.

30 MILE OPEN—Won by Harry Nichols, Cliff Woodbury second, George Beck third, H. M. Lewis fourth. Time—24:22 1-5. [New western dirt track record.]

GABBY IN SLUMP AS FENCE BUSTER

Raising a deeper note in the increased din of base hits in recent games, three contenders for the 1925 major league home run crown put on speed last week and broke into four pieces the prize leadership that had been the undisputed possession of "Gabby" Hartnett of the Chicago Nationals.

Meusel of the New York Americans smashed three hits into the bleachers following his five of the week before and landed in a tie at fifteen each with Hornsby of the St. Louis Nationals, who had hit three. Williams of the St. Louis Americans turned in five home runs, the high total for the week, and drew alongside the slipping Hartnett—fourteen each. The leaders:

MORE HANDICAP HORSES SOUGHT FOR RACE MEET

BY FRENCH LANE.

Aurora, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—A hurry up call for more high class racing talent, including horses in the handicap division, was sent out today by officials of the Aurora Jockey club.

Charles Primrose left for Latonia to interest owners of stake horses quartered there in the Aurora events. He carried along the information that if the right sort of horses come to the Chicago district immediately the daily handicaps will be increased in value from $1,000 to $1,500 and $2,000. Similar missionary work is to be done in New York and Canada, it was announced.

A new stable providing room for fifty horses will be ready for occupancy by Wednesday morning. It will be held in readiness for any newcomers.

Good Horses at Track.

"We have 750 horses quartered on our grounds and there are numerous good ones of handicap ability in the lot," General Manager Clifford R. Trimble said today. "But so far the owners have not shown an inclination to race their best horses, and if they will not patronize our handicaps we will get horses here that will. The crowds during the early days of our meeting have shown us we can offer higher handicap purses if they will attract better horses."

Saturday's card, void of an outstanding feature, was responsible for the action of the local turf association. It would have been a fair week day attraction, but as far as real class goes the different events did not fill with the grade of horses that have patronized tomorrow's program. And Monday at all race tracks is more or less of an off day.

Big Fields Promised Today.

Big fields promise to parade to the post in most of today's races, the feature of which is the Ladie' Day handicap at five and one-half furlongs, for which some of the best sprinters here have been nominated. They include three from L. C. Cooper's stable, Braedalbane, Corinth and Missionary and the entry is likely to be highly fancied. The other six races carry the claiming clause, but the fields are large and well balanced and some good sport should result.

Frank Farrar wired from Toronto last night that he was shipping here. His string includes Seth's Flower, Sun Lady and Wrangle.

Each Monday and Friday has been set aside as ladies' day.

MIKE BALLERINO MAY MEET TOMMY O'BRIEN

MIKE BALLERINO.

If Mike Ballerino, the world's junior lightweight champion, wins the popular decision over Frankie Schaeffer of the south side in part of the double windup of the boxing show at Aurora on Friday night, he will be matched with Tommy O'Brien of Milwaukee for a later show.

This announcement was made yesterday by Promoter Jim Mullen after he had learned that O'Brien had won from Ace Hudkins on the coast last Saturday. When Paddy Mullens, manager of O'Brien, passed through Chicago recently on his way to California, he told Promoter Mullen he could have Harry Wills or O'Brien at any time.

The Aurora promoter yesterday sent a wire to O'Brien's manager asking for suitable dates and the match may be closed at any time.

Pal Moore, the local 118 pounder, who has started another campaign to win the bantamweight crown, will resume training today at the Arcade. Pal is matched to meet Peter Sarmiento, the Filipino, in the other half of the Aurora windup. Ballerino, Schaeffer, and Sarmiento are working at the Mullen gymnasium, while other fighters on the card are also hard at work.

Matchmaker Henry Finnegan of the East Chicago club is dickering for the services of Gene Tunney, the American light heavyweight champion, who stopped Tom Gibbons in New York last Friday night. As soon as a definite answer is received from Manager Billy Gibson, the East Chicago promoter will try to sign a suitable opponent.

Sammy Mandell's victory over Phil Salvatore on the coast late Saturday was generally expected in local boxing circles. O'Brien's victory over Hudkins on a foul sort of upset the dope of promoters who had planned on matching the winners of the two bouts for a later show. According to reports, Hudkins is considered a better fighter on the coast than O'Brien, and the fistic conductors may sign Mandell and Hudkins regardless of O'Brien's victory over the Omaha fighter.

POTATO INSURANCE AGAINST BUGS AND "BURNS."

POTATOES must be watched carefully during hot, dry weather, for it is then that hopperburn, a distinct injury caused by potato leaf hoppers, spreads rapidly, killing whole fields of the tubers in a few days. Early potatoes are the ones that are damaged most by this pest.

A great difference in the severity of hopperburn on different varieties has been shown in recent experiments made by Wisconsin university. Early Triumphs always were affected the worst of any common varieties grown in that state and used in the tests, and Rural New Yorkers proved to be the least affected.

Bordeau mixture is being generally used as a repellant in patches infested with the potato leaf hopper. It is now used generally in commercial potato growing sections, as well as in patches grown for home use. A 4-4-50 Bordeaux mixture combined with lead arsenate, 2½-50, and sprayed on the potato vines about three or four times during the growing season controls the leaf hopper and prevents any serious loss from "burns."

Question: Why do all of the great racing cars use Valve-in-Head engines?

Answer: Because this type develops the greatest speed and power. All first place winners of the Indianapolis 500 mile race since 1912 have had Valve-in-Head engines. Buick pioneered the Valve-in-Head engine in 1904 and has used it ever since because it is more powerful, more economical and more dependable.

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

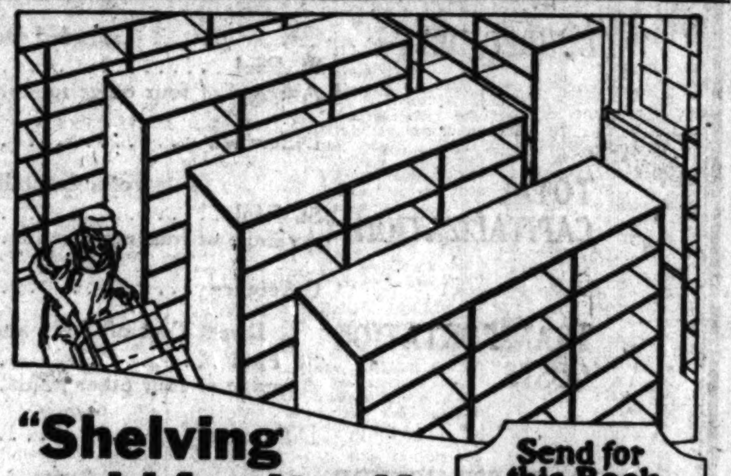
[Copyright: 1925: Fairchild News Service.]

NEW YORK.—An improvement in the volume of gray goods trading is expected this week, especially if raw cotton becomes stabilized. Recent price fluctuations of the commodity have caused goods buyers to hold off to see if the recent advances are going to hold. Prevailing quotations follow: For 64x60, 5.35 yards to the pound, 9¼c; 68x72, 4.75 yards to the pound, 10½c; 72x76, 4.25 yards to the pound, 11c; 80 squares, 4.00 yards to the pound, 12c.

NEW YORK.—Another decline was reflected last week in the Fairchild cotton goods average price and index number, which was 14.926, compared with 15.036 the preceding week. The average price of spot cotton for the week was 24.05, compared with 23.84 the previous week.

BOSTON.—The first test of the higher wool prices will come Monday, and if the new levels can be maintained further advances are likely before the week is over. Quotations here are still low when considered in relation to prices being paid in the primary markets, and dealers are anxious to bring them into line. Lack of buying interest has been a bar thus far, and it remains to be seen whether the slight trading improvement of last week will withstand the five cent advance which most houses marked up.

PHILADELPHIA.—The cotton yarn market is unchanged from last week, except that an increasing number of southern spinners are announcing curtailment. Prices are the same and the volume of trading is extremely light.



"Shelving paid for itself and still looks like new"

—not merely our claims. Users of Berloy Steel Shelving and Bins in and around Chicago say so—original letters in our files here.

If you have materials to store, machine parts, textiles, tools, office supplies—anything—read "Caring for Things" and learn how Berloy engineers and Berloy Equipment have saved hundreds of dollars for the smallest businesses, thousands for many; in stockrooms and warehouses, everywhere goods or materials are stored.

"Floor space doubled in value." "Two men doing the work of four." "We are carrying one third less stock and at the same time giving better service." Not theories, but the report from actual experiences here in Chicago.

Actual Value of Taxable Property (1924)	$56,504,100
*Assessed Valuation (1925)	18,000,000
Net Bonded Debt (including this issue)	999,707

*Official estimate, entire tax roll not yet completed.

These bonds, issued for various Public Improvements such as sewers, parks, fire department, sanitary department, and street paving, are general obligations of the entire City, payable from an unlimited ad valorem tax. The entire debt of Miami Beach is issued in serial form so the necessity for a large sinking fund is avoided.

The City of Miami Beach, directly connected with the City of Miami by a concrete Causeway, is probably one of the best known cities in the country, as it is visited by people from all parts of the United States every year and most of these people are property owners and among the large tax payers. The growth in popularity and wealth in the past five years has been nothing short of phenomenal. During that time property values have doubled every few months, upon a good, solid, substantial business basis. Several of the finest hotels in the world, such as the Flamingo, Fleetwood, Nautilus, Pancoast, Lincoln and Marlboro, are located here, and several more now in the course of construction. The Government recently appropriated $1,600,000 for a deep water channel and harbor improvement giving direct access to Miami and Miami Beach for the coastwise and transatlantic steamships. The bank deposits of these two cities are now over $120,000,000. The City of Miami Beach is leading the entire State in its building program. Building permits for 1924 totalled $7,814,750, an increase of about 100% over 1923 and for the first three months in 1925, totalled $1,221,800.

First Mortgage 7% Serial Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Issued by the Ocean & Lake Realty Company, Paris E. Singer, President on

Everglades Club Properties, Palm Beach, Florida

$400,000 due each May 1, 1927 to 1930—Price 101 and interest

Dated May 1, 1925. Principal and semi-annual interest (May and November 1st) payable in New York City. Denomination, $1,000. Coupon Bonds. Registerable as to principal only. Interest payable without deduction of any Federal Income Tax not in excess of 2%. Four mill tax refundable in Pennsylvania. Bonds callable at 103 and accrued interest, in their numerical order, at any interest period on and after May 1, 1927, upon sixty days' previous notice.

From a letter to us dated May 15th, 1925, from Paris E. Singer, President of the Ocean & Lake Realty Company, a Florida corporation organized and largely owned by him to manage and control the Everglades Club Properties, and from other information furnished us, we summarize as follows:

BUSINESS: The Everglades Club has a membership at present of approximately 800 members, including leading financiers and business men of most of the larger cities East of the Mississippi and is the social center of fashionable Palm Beach and this in turn has made the adjacent shops of the Club a very important business center. The demand by exclusive concerns of New York for branch shops in the Everglades Club district has induced Mr. Singer to construct, at an approximate cost of $400,000, out of the proceeds of this loan, another very attractive shop building with apartments in the second and third stories, and practically the entire capacity has already been rented on long term leases at high rentals.

The Everglades Club Properties covered by this mortgage include the Club building proper; the beautiful Spanish villas and bungalows covering almost an entire square or block close to the Club; the shops and maisonettes already constructed; the new Parigi Building, now under construction, and the Everglades Golf Course, all of which are located together in the center of the most fashionable and expensive residential section of Palm Beach, the better residence lots in this section without any improvements bringing over $1,000 per front foot.

SECURITY: These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of Counsel, by a first and closed mortgage on lands and buildings described therein, which were appraised on May 1st, 1925, by the Palm Beach County Real Estate Board as having a sound present value of $7,830,595. As this bond issue is the only funded debt of the Company, it will also be a direct charge upon the entire holdings of the Ocean & Lake Realty Company appraised by said Board on said date at $10,372,151.50. The above values will be increased approximately $2,000,000. by the proceeds of this bond issue.

EARNINGS: These properties have been in successful operation since 1918 and the net earnings after depreciation, taxes, insurance and operating expenses for the season 1924-25 were $714,377.00, and it is estimated by Mr. Singer that the earnings for the coming season of 1925-26 will be much greater.

SINKING FUND: A monthly sinking fund is provided in the mortgage equal to ⅙ of next maturing installment of interest and 1/12 of next maturing installment of principal.

All legal proceedings pertaining to this issue have been taken under the direction of Messrs. Fleming, Hamilton, Diver & Fleming, Attorneys of Jacksonville, for the Bankers, and Messrs. M. D. Carmichael and H. J. O'Neill, Attorneys of West Palm Beach, for the Company.

MELLON'S JUNE FINANCING PLAN IS ANNOUNCED

SECRETARY MELLON.
[Harris & Ewing.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today announced the June financing of the federal government, which takes the form of an offering of one year 3 per cent treasury tax certificates of indebtedness, dated and bearing interest from June 15, 1925, and maturing June 15, 1926. The amount of the offering is around $125,000,000.

The treasury will accept in payment for the new certificates 4½ per cent treasury notes of series C-1925, maturing June 15, 1925, at par, but such subscriptions will not be given preferred allotment. About $400,000,000 of treasury notes become payable on June 15, 1925.

Cover Cash Requirements.

The present offering is intended, with the balances already on hand and the June tax receipts, to cover the treasury's further cash requirements until September, when further financing will be necessary.

The text of the official circular follows in part:

"Bearer certificates will be issued in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, and $100,000. The certificates will have two interest coupons attached, payable Dec. 15, 1925, and June 15, 1926.

"The certificates shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any state, or any of the possessions of the United States or by any local taxing authority, except [A] estate or inheritance taxes, and [B] graduated additional income taxes, commonly known as surtaxes, and excess profits and war profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, upon the income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations.

Interest on $5,000 Exempt.

"The interest on an amount of bonds and certificates authorized by said act, approved Sept. 24, 1917, and amendments thereto, the principal of which does not exceed in the aggregate $5,000, owned by any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, shall be exempt from the taxes provided for in clause [B] above.

SHANGHAI RIOTS WRECK CHINESE BONDS IN LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 7.—All Chinese bonds were shattered on the London foreign market this week as ominous news came in from Shanghai. French government bonds also fell sharply with the weight of the declining franc, dropping point for point.

Domestic conditions did not favor activity in British trading. The Whitsuntide holidays, coupled with the end of the twenty-one day settlement, kept a cover on business.

A general slumping tendency characterized the gilt edged division, where the prices disappointed hopes for an all around recovery.

Rubber interests again enjoyed the only really buoyant spot in this week's market. The expansion in the volume of buying has grown steadily, with prices rising in proportion. A fresh high level of three shillings three pence was reached, promising a wave of prosperity through the plantations.

The railroad department had its full share of ups and downs. Domestic rails rallied with an indication of swelling traffic, but flopped again when it was shown that the boom was only the result of holiday travel. United Havana shares, however, staged a spectacular upward jump on rumors that a big dividend melon was about to be cut for the current year. South American roads lost ground the latter end of the week as the Argentine money exchange dropped. Brazilian rails also declined.

The only sensation in the oil market was the erratic fluctuation of Lago petroleum stocks when New York's selling option first sent them down and then a report of a big fire gave them another dip.

Industrials did not make a bad showing, auto tires, newspapers, and tobaccos featuring, with an optimistic return of business. Silks, both real and artificial, also reached a favorably increasing demand.

WILL EVOLUTION TRIAL CUT TAXES? SCRUTATOR ASKS

BY SCRUTATOR.

Assuming that all of those who have joined in the protest against the Tennessee ban upon the theory of organic evolution are consistent believers in the process, business men might well hope for a great reduction in taxation and the scrapping of many paternalistic laws in the next half century.

If the outcry against the Bryan law is really indicative of American opinion, are we not entitled to expect a reflex of those convictions in future legislation? As was pointed out in this column on a former occasion, the increasing cost of government is largely due to the fact that a part of our population is increasingly in need of government. This change in the character of the population may plausibly be ascribed to a refusal by government to make use of what is already known of evolution and heredity in social policies.

What we have been doing has been thus put by a former president of the American Chemical society, whose impress upon our present industrial structure is notable: "Thus we still encourage race deterioration, still carry the burden of the unfit, still are breeding from poor stock, and witnessing with equanimity the suppression of the best."

Cook county's statistics of crime, the vital statistics, and the reports of philanthropic societies, when placed alongside the tax rolls, tell the same story.

However, our optimism over the strength developed against the Bryan law may be restrained so far as any hope for new governmental policies is concerned. Most of those who oppose the law do not take their evolution straight. If they have thought about the matter at all, they usually temper their ideas of applying biology to man, as so many revolutionary, reformist, and philanthropic writers like Ritchie, Kropotkin, Ferri, and H. G. Wells have done. But no matter how creditable the motives of these writers, none of them has really succeeded in reconciling the disagreeable facts of natural selection, the elimination of the weakling, and predestination by heredity to their humanitarian and equalitarian yearnings.

With ardent but uneasy argument they stress the importance of mutual aid and the herd complex as factors of evolution. They point to the survival of more social species of animals and insects as justification of paternalistic policies among men. But they never succeed in dismissing the unwelcome "face at the window" that chills their theories—the fact that in the realm of nature all such internal social adaptations are but to meet the inexorable war from other groups and species without.

As a matter of practical politics the analogies of organic evolution and the eugenic arguments built upon them are of no significance. Since men began to understand something of the nature of heredity they have shaped their social policies more than ever in contradiction to what they know.

TO HOLDERS OF SECURITIES OF

CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILWAY COMPANY

June 3rd, 1925

We advise Against Depositing Securities Under the Proposed Plan of Reorganization.

We are preparing to send out an intensive analysis of the St. Paul situation which will be ready shortly. For the information of security holders who are asked to deposit under the Reorganization Plan, we are summarizing the salient features of this analysis, as follows:

1. The St. Paul is efficiently and economically operated.
2. The St. Paul is moderately bonded and moderately capitalized.
3. The poor earnings of the St. Paul are due to the rate structure.

Support for the foregoing statements is made in a comparison of the St. Paul with strong, well-operated, dividend-paying roads carrying the same type of traffic, but enjoying a different rate structure. We have selected for this purpose:

Atlantic Coast Line Railroad
Southern Railway
St. Louis-San Francisco Railway

In 1924 the St. Paul's earnings were 90% of its charges.

If the St. Paul ton-mile rate were applied to the traffic of these four roads, the results for 1924 would have been as follows:

Missouri-Kansas-Texas .... 56% interest charges
St. Louis-San Francisco .... 50% interest charges
*Atlantic Coast Line .... 9% interest charges
†Southern Railway .... 87% interest charges

*Dividends on L. & N. stock and interest on L. & N. Collateral Trust Bonds excluded. †1923 income account.

If the average ton-mile rate of these four roads were applied to the traffic of the St. Paul, the St. Paul's results for 1924 would have been as follows:

On Basis of the Average Ton-Mile Rate of		Per Cent of all St. Paul Charges earned	Per Cent on St. Paul Preferred Stock	Per Cent on All Stock of St. Paul
Frisco	(1.390 cents)	137	26.75	13.3
Missouri-Kansas-Texas	(1.379 cents)	132	25.72	12.8
Atlantic C. L.	(1.522 cents)	201	39.29	19.5
Southern Railway	(1.298 cents)	192	18.03	8.9

These figures demonstrate that the difficulties of the St. Paul are not due to excessive capitalization. They are due to inadequate rates.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is considering the rate structure at the present time.

No reorganization should be consummated until the pending rate applications have been decided and every effort to obtain fair rates has been made. With fair rates the bondholders would not have to make the heavy sacrifices required by the published plan, and stockholders would not be required to pay so burdensome an assessment as the price of preserving their equity.

Stockholders and Bondholders are invited to communicate with us, stating the amount and character of St. Paul securities held by them.

"Good Will and Its Valuation"

A 32-page Booklet on one of the most interesting Problems of Business

In the reorganization or sale of a business, or in the computing of Inheritance and Transfer Taxes, the necessity of determining the value of Good Will is especially apparent.

Our Booklet, "Good Will and Its Valuation," tells just what Good Will is, the many ways in which it affects business, its influence on security prices, its relation to tangible assets, and how it may be appraised.

Court decisions are quoted bearing upon taxability of Good Will. Suggestions are given for preparing an estate to meet tax demands.

Appearing first as an article by Mr. A. C. Ernst in Printers' Ink, "Good Will and Its Valuation" aroused such wide interest as to warrant its publication in booklet form. A second edition of this booklet is now off the press, and copies will be mailed to business executives on request. Address nearest office.

The New York Times.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Some people would assign, as the outstanding event of last week's markets, the reaching of a high record figure by the stock market averages; others would possibly assign the checking of the artificial bidding up of certain speculative industrial shares and the resultant sharp reaction.

But the stock market of the last few weeks has not been of the kind to take seriously (except as evidence of an unwholesome speculative spirit), and even the "averages" have been in considerable measure distorted by the movement of two or three individual stocks, whose price has been driven up 40 to 60 points from the low level of the year.

The existence of a general appetite for speculation was, however, manifested, not only on the stock exchange but in the grain and cotton markets, which appeared to heed only such facts and statistics as would make for higher values, ignoring others of equal or greater weight which should have put prices down.

The Most Significant One.

If it were asked which of last week's markets moved most significantly in the light of current events, that distinction might fairly be allotted to the fall in the franc. The problems of the French currency which are indicated by that movement must this time, apparently, be forced to some kind of solution. It is because even Caillaux, with his singular repute as a financial wizard, has as yet been able to do nothing, and because at the most awkward moment the French treasury had to borrow a billion and a quarter francs from the bank in a single week that this distrust of the franc was emphasized.

The application of the Italian banks for a $50,000,000 New York credit to protect Italian exchange and the immediate granting of the credit by New York institutions is a reminder of two outstanding facts in the situation. One is the evident downward trend of exchange rates on markets which have not yet "stabilized" their currency. So great is this single influence of distrust in the currencies themselves, unattached to the gold standard, that it has served to drive down progressively the franc with a $90,000,000 protective American credit in plain sight and a monthly merchandise export surplus of 500,000,000 francs.

Saturation Forecast Wrong.

When the year began it was plainly the feeling, even among the "bond houses," that the market for new investment issues was approaching the point of saturation. Our investors had taken in the whole of 1924 some $5,500,000,000 of new securities, not including refunding operations; that figure exceeding by at least $1,000,000,000 the largest previous takings of any single year, and the foreign loans themselves reaching $1,000,000,000. A pause in which this enormous outpour of new securities could be "digested" in which the purchases on credit should be gradually covered with accruing new capital, was the perfectly familiar sequel.

It did not come. In the first completed quarter of 1925 the new subscriptions amounted to $1,500,000,000—which was $300,000,000 more than in the same months even of 1924 and which, if repeated in the succeeding quarters, would far exceed any yearly achievement. Nor was this the whole story, for prices of outstanding investment bonds, instead of receding under this great addition to supplies, continued to advance. The Times' "averages" of the price of typical domestic bonds rose from 82 in January to 85 last week.

U. S. Smelting, Refining and Mining.

J. W. W.—United States Smelting, Refining, and Mining company earned $3.70 a share on its $24,317,775 of 7 per cent preferred stock [$50 par value] and 28 cents a share on its $17,555,687 common stock [$50 par value] in 1924, compared with $4.48 a share on the same amount of preferred and $1.35 a share on like amount of common stock in 1923. Surplus for the year of 1924 was $97,721, which was added to total surplus, which then stood at $17,317,516 as of Dec. 31, 1924. While the net income available for dividends in 1924 was smaller than in 1923, the earnings after charges, etc., and after federal taxes, available for reserves in 1924 amounted to $6,172,412, against $6,389,572 in 1923. Large reserves set up in 1924 reduced the net income. Additions during the year, also, amounted to $4,636,178. During the last six years the company has spent about $26,316,000 in additions to property and betterments, all paid for out of reserves from earnings without the aid of any new financing. In March, 1925, dividends were resumed on the common stock, the present rate being $3 per annum. Previous to that time no dividend had been paid on this stock since Jan. 15, 1921. Net earnings for the first quarter of 1925 were said to be more than double those for the first quarter of 1924. The preferred stock is high grade.

Dated July 1, 1925 Due July 1, 1958

Principal and semi-annual interest (July 1 and January 1) payable at the office of the trustee without deduction of any Federal income tax not in excess of two per cent. Refund of the Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Kansas and California taxes not to exceed four mills, Maryland four and one-half mills tax, Kentucky and District of Columbia five mills tax, Michigan five mills exemption tax, Virginia five and one-half mills tax, and Massachusetts income tax not to exceed six per cent to resident holders upon timely and proper application.

THE NEW YORK TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY, TRUSTEE

Location: The Harriman Building, a thirty-three story office building of the highest character, will occupy the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and 44th Street, New York City, one of the most desirable locations in the Grand Central and 42nd Street section. This location is well known as the site formerly occupied by "Delmonico's." The other three corners of the intersection of 44th Street with Fifth Avenue are now occupied by the following nationally known banking institutions: Harriman National Bank, Fifth Avenue Bank, the Fifth Avenue branch of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. Two blocks to the east is located the Grand Central Station, which, together with the various subways, elevated, surface car and Fifth Avenue bus lines, affords unusually favorable transportation facilities. Within a few blocks of this property are located the following important buildings: Pershing Square Building, Bankers Trust Building, Postal Life Building, National City Bank Building, Liggett Building, Canadian Pacific Building, Vanderbilt Avenue Building, and the Hotels Biltmore, Commodore, Ritz-Carlton, Belmont and Roosevelt.

Building: The building is designed for office and banking purposes with stores on the entire street level. The upper floors, devoted to office purposes, are afforded exceptional light and ventilation on all sides, achieved by the unusually favorable set-back arrangement. Light protection is further guaranteed by a long term lease, controlled by the corporation, of the property to the north of the building having a 30-foot frontage on Fifth Avenue. The building will be of classic design and of granite, brick, limestone and fireproof steel construction and will be one of the outstanding structures of New York City.

Security: This loan will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a closed first mortgage on the land and building owned in fee, the plot extending approximately 95.5 feet on Fifth Avenue and 140.0 feet on 44th Street, having a total ground area of over 12,558 square feet.

The property has been independently appraised as having a value upon completion in excess of $8,650,000, making this loan less than a 61 per cent mortgage.

A surety company bond guaranteeing completion of the building and title insurance for the full amount of this loan will be carried payable to the trustee. Adequate fire, liability, and rent or rental value insurance will also be carried payable to the trustee.

Earnings: The building will have a total net rentable area of approximately 215,793 square feet. Independent experts estimate the annual net earnings available for payment of interest after deducting operating expenses, maintenance, insurance and taxes to be not less than $885,000, or over 2.8 times maximum annual interest charges on this loan.

The operation of a monthly sinking fund, beginning December 1, 1926, through purchase in the open market or by redemption, will retire this entire loan on or before maturity.

Legal for Trust Funds: *Based on the above appraisals, upon completion of the building, these securities, in the opinion of counsel, will be legal for the investment of trust funds under the Laws of the State of New York.

This loan is offered when, as, and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. Chapman, Cutler and Parker.

CROP DAMAGE REPORTS RAISE PRICES OF GRAIN

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat, oat and rye prices finished the week at nearly the highest on the present upturn with a strong bullish feeling based on hot weather over the middle west, which it is feared has damaged the wheat on top of previous injury by freezing, drought and insects.

Predictions are for cooler weather with rains this week. This may dampen the ardor of bulls, but the impression amongst the trade leaders is that damage already done to the winter wheat crop is nearer a calamity than has ever been known in the history of crop reporting.

Government Report Tuesday.

The government report for June is due in Chicago at 2 o'clock tomorrow. It is expected to lower its May estimate from 445,000,000 bu of winter wheat to around 420,000,000 to 430,000,000 bu, compared with 590,000,000 bu harvested last year. Estimates on spring wheat acreage and condition will be given for the first time this year. They range from 235,000,000 to 254,000,000 bu. The five year average is 245,000,000 bu. In June last year the spring wheat estimate was 183,000,000 bu, to which 100,000,000 bu were added in the final harvest returns.

Average of the four leading crop experts is for 664,000,000 bu of all wheat, including 423,000,000 bu of winter and 241,000,000 of spring, the total comparing with 873,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Crops Have Been Hurt.

On the basis of 664,000,000 bu for all wheat, and a consumption estimated at 650,000,000 bu, there would be a surplus of only 14,000,000 bu. This, with an estimated carryover of 50,000,000 bu, would leave 64,000,000 bu as a surplus and carryover to the end of June, 1926.

The fact that farmers are not selling wheat to arrive is regarded as the best evidence that their crop has been hurt as much, if not more, than has been reported. They evidently know this, and see the possibility of prices going materially higher, and are not selling. Another reason is that they will have to depend upon thrashing returns to determine the size of their crop.

Advance Too Rapid.

Prices for futures have advanced faster than the cash trade has followed, and the market easily becomes overbought, as there is practically no hedging pressure and little short selling. A market without a short interest becomes most dangerous at times, as was indicated by the break from $2.05⅝ for May wheat on Jan. 28 to $1.36½ by April 3.

July wheat has advanced 53c, and September 44½c from the low point on April 3. The close on Saturday for July was $1.69⅝, up 5⅝c for the week. September closed at $1.65⅝@1.66, up 5⅜c; December $1.67½@1.67⅝, up 4⅞c, compared with a week ago. Prices for the week follow:

Corn Belt Needs Good General Rains.

Good general rains all over the corn belt would greatly benefit the crop, experts say. There has been an unprecedented dry May with a deficit in subsoil moisture in many sections and a freeze which set the early planting back.

Replanting of corn has practically been completed and should there be good general rains at once it would give the corn crop a fair start. In years in which temperatures have been very high in mid summer the corn crop has been short. In 1911 the yield was 2,531,000,000 bu and in 1913 it was 2,447,000,000 bu. Last year there were 2,437,000,000 bu.

All indications are that the corn acreage this year will be very large, as the abandoned area of wheat and oats is likely to go into corn.

Trade sentiment in corn is mixed. One set of traders who are bullish are buying December every time it breaks sharply from $1.00, and selling above that figure. A few big operators are bullish on July and September, and have bought heavily of late. Despite the liberal buying of corn and the advance in wheat, corn closed 1⅞ to 2⅛c lower for the week. July closed at $1.16¼ to $1.16⅜, September $1.16⅝ and December at 98⅝c to 98¾c. Prices for the week follow:

Oat Crop Damaged.

That the oat crop has been damaged by drought and freezing weather is becoming apparent from returns in Indiana, Illinois and some other sections.

Prices are up 8@11¼c from the recent low point, and net gains for the last week are 4⅝@5⅞c. Closing prices on July Saturday were 53⅝@53⅞c, September 54½@54⅝c, December 56⅞c. Prices for the week follow:

Interest in Rye Revived.

July rye sold between $1.10¼ and $1.20⅝ for the week, and closed Saturday at $1.19⅝, a gain of 2⅝c. September sold between $1.10¼ and $1.22, and closed at $1.21⅝, a gain of 5¼c. December closed at $1.25, or 6½c higher than the previous week. Cash interests expect that the next thirty days will develop an increased demand for the old rye and materially reduce stocks.

Increased interest developed in the provision trade, with speculators buying and packers and longs selling. Prices advanced sharply, and while not maintaining the full appreciation, closed with lard futures up 90@97½c, short ribs 60@75c, and bellies 32½c higher than a week ago. Stocks of meats and lard decreased the last month, and are less than a year ago. Hog receipts are also well under last year's. Prices for the week follow:

Week Shows Public in Scramble for Bonds

New York, June 7.—(AP)—An insatiable demand for new bonds, reflected in ready subscription of approximately $135,000,000 in offerings, was the outstanding feature of last week's investment market. The investing public's appetite for new foreign loans was unusually good. A $30,000,000 Norwegian bond issue was about three times oversubscribed and a $45,000,000 Argentine loan, offered the following day, found equally good response.
